

Students see construction work 1st day

By Neil Fater

Principals called the first day of school a smooth and exciting transition for students at Andover High, South Elementary and Sanborn schools, where students had their first look since June at the changes construction brought.

Tours of both Andover High School and South showed that there was reason for excitement, particularly at South. Living up to their promises, officials delivered a brighter, bigger and newer school for the returning students.

Only the media center and cafetorium remain to be completed inside South School, while, as expected, there is another year of construction in store for the High School.

Construction will also continue throughout the year at Sanborn Elementary.

At South, workers did such an impressive job matching the style of the new classrooms to the old classrooms, and renovating the older rooms, that even people familiar with the school will have a hard time differentiating between the new and old rooms.

"One of the things that's been going on with the kids here is (talk about) who gets the new classrooms and who gets the old

New tutor brings an interesting background to the ABC house

By Neil Fater

A Better Chance students will ask their new resident tutor, Celestine Reid, a lot of questions this year. But students will probably ask more questions about her life than they will about word problems beginning with "A freight train leaves New Jersey traveling 35 miles per hour..." Who can blame them.

A grandmother, Ms. Reid holds a master of science degree from Johns Hopkins University, has worked for the Central Intelligence Agency, and currently is seeking a master of divinity degree from the Andover Newton Theological School.

She lists the harp, law, karate and international travel among her interests and currently travels everywhere with a miniature

Mary McGarry Morris: What makes her write?

By Kara Ryan

Talk about outrageous characters, this novel has them all: Gardine Carson, a garbage man called the "pig-man" by the townspeople of Atkinson, Vt.; Joey Seldon, an old man who runs the town popcorn stand and who manages to drive town officials crazy and convince residents that he's blind; Jozia and Howard Menka, 51-year-old twins whose greatest adventures are their monthly trips to the state mental hospital; and Renie LaChance, the infamous obscene phone caller who brings excitement to the lives of the town's dissatisfied women.

These characters, with their colorful quirks and nuances, make up only a small fraction of the people in

Selectmen may discuss police details

By Don Staruk

Selectmen mostly agree that they do not want to replace police officers on road details with civilian flaggers. But they may discuss developing a policy on the issue if such talk would not violate any regulations or laws.

"My impression is it is one of those things that we ought to talk about," Larry Larsen, chairman of the board, said yesterday, Wednesday.

Dr. Larsen said he will ask town counsel and the town manager whether it is feasible to discuss the issue without violating contract agreements or negotiation rules pertaining to the police patrolmen's contract, which is currently under negotiation.

If not, "let's talk," Dr. Larsen said.

Jay Leno takes his first Emmy

By Neil Fater

Jay Leno said he was stunned by his first Emmy Sunday, but in some ways his longtime Andover friends say the award did not have as great an effect as fans might think.

"For Jay, it's just a notch," said Lou Trumbore, who has known Mr. Leno since their days at South Elementary School. "It's not something he really goes out and strives for."

"It's just great that he won the award. He was real humbled by it. But in typical Jay fashion he was interested in what was going on here," said Lee Russem, who talked with Mr. Leno about his celebrated award this week. "It was a typical Jay conversation."

NEWS IN BRIEF

Know Your Town Fair is Saturday, 10-1

Know Your Town Fair, organized by the League of Women Voters and sponsored by the Center Merchants Association, will be held Saturday, Sept. 16, outside Old Town Hall, from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m.

Last year more than 60 organizations participated. Organizations set up tables where people can answer questions about that group.

For more information call Carole Chanler at 470-1550. See page 38 for further information.

Defending yourself with pepper spray

The Department of Community Services and Mike's Antique & Sporting Arms of Haverhill will present a course on Basics of Hot Pepper Defensive Sprays Wednesday, Oct. 18, from 6 to 9:30 p.m. at Doherty Middle School on Bartlet Street.

Michael J. Schelling, a MSI/mace certified O.C. aerosol spray instructor, will teach the basic fundamentals and techniques in using hot pepper aerosol sprays as a means of self-defense and responsibilities associated with ownership. Subjects will include what pepper spray is, types and variations, proper use and technique, effectiveness, legalities of ownership and carrying and storing it.

Certificates will be issued upon completion of the course.

For more information or to register, call the DCS office at 470-3800, Ext. 284, or Mike's Antique & Sporting Arms at (508) 521-1159.

Rep. Coon's hours

Rep. Gary Coon, R-Andover, will hold local office hours Wednesday, Sept. 20, at Northern Essex Community College, Lawrence campus, from 6 to 7 p.m., and at Memorial Hall Library from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Rep. Coon and legislative aid Walter Radulski are available on Fridays between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. at Rep. Coon's district office, 89 N. Main St., 470-1995.

John O'Brien to be available locally

State Sen. John D. O'Brien, D-Andover, will hold office hours Monday, Sept. 18, at the Senior Center on Bartlet Street from 10 to 11 a.m. and at Memorial Hall Library at Elm Square from 6 to 7 p.m.

Car wash Saturday

The Andover Service Club will hold a car wash Saturday, Sept. 16 (Sunday if it rains), 8:30-4:30 in Friendly's parking lot off North Main Street. Proceeds support the club's charitable activities, which include functions for the developmentally disabled. The club also is involved with Andover High's Student-Business Partnership Mentoring Program.

Seeking stories for Andover's 350th

Do your memories of Andover go far back enough to remember the kissing booth at Abbot Academy's bazaar? Did you hang out at the Little Brown Jug on Route 133? Do you remember picking up your coconut at the Spa before the Memorial Day in Andover?

The Townsmen is asking people who have lived or worked here for several years to share some of their memories of the past with readers. We'd like to hear about how the parade used to go up the hill to Phillips Academy, how you bowled at the alley in Andover, what your school experience were like and more.

To celebrate Andover's 350th anniversary, the Townsmen is publishing three special sections next year, and part of the coverage will be residents' memories of "old" Andover.

Please call Don Staruk (475-1943) or any other member of the editorial department, or write down your memories and send the short account to the Andover Townsman at 33 Chestnut St., Andover, MA 01810, or fax them to 508-470-2819, or send them by e-mail: America Online: Townsmen; via the Internet: Townsmen@aol.com.

Send a Message during Saturday's Know Your Town Fair

The Andover Townsman will have a table at Saturday's Know Your Town Fair. Drop by and purchase a subscription. In addition, people can Spend a Buck and Send a Message during the fair.

For $1, a person can write a message of up to 20 words. The message will be published in the Sept. 21 Townsman. Messages in the past have included birthday wishes, messages to teachers, parents, loved-ones and others.

Want to write for the Andover Townsman?

The Townsman is looking for another intern to work at the paper. Interns write stories, check facts, file, do some research, compile the entertainment calendars and perform other tasks.

Interns are trained by the editorial staff. They usually make a commitment of working 20 hours a week. Interns are usually college students who are majoring in journalism or who have an interest and some experience in writing, but they can be older people, too. Call Perry Colmore or Jack Grady at 475-1943 if you are interested.

Lawyer dies; his partner goes into cardiac arrest

By Perry Colmore

When an Andover lawyer saw that his partner had collapsed last week from a heart attack in his office, he too went into cardiac arrest.

Edward F. Cregg, age 77, of 46 Sunset Rock Road, died last Wednesday, Sept. 6, at Lawrence General Hospital after suffering a heart attack at his office. [His obituary is on page 28.]

Robert Zollner, 72, who acts as special counsel for the town during town meetings and for planning and zoning issues, and who shared office space with Mr. Cregg on Central Street, was alone in the office with Mr. Cregg when the latter collapsed from his heart attack.

Both men were rushed to Lawrence General Hospital where Mr. Cregg died.

After spending a week at Lawrence General Hospital, Mr. Zollner was moved to Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston Tuesday afternoon. His wife, Nancy Zollner, said that her husband's regular cardiologist works at Mass General but was away at the time of Mr. Zollner's heart attack.

Mr. Zollner was scheduled to have an angiogram Wednesday afternoon at Mass General so doctors could determine if there's heart blockage, said his wife.

"There were many heroes of this story," said Mrs. Zollner, who called the story "extraordinary." She said people from other offices in the two lawyers' Central Street building helped.

Mrs. Zollner said her husband phoned her at their Highland Road house and said, "Things aren't going well down here." That was right after he discovered his collapsed partner, she said.

Mrs. Zollner said a client of her husband came for an appointment and noticed that Mr. Zollner seemed distressed. At first Mr. Zollner told the woman he would have to cancel their appointment. But the woman noticed he was distressed and asked him to sit down, Mrs. Zollner said.

Mrs. Zollner said her husband had "come through the incident" fine by noon, about three hours after his partner collapsed. She said doctors told her it is not unusual for a person to go into cardiac arrest when he is upset by the condition of another.

One women's clothing store taking the place of another

By Don Staruk

Irresistibles, a chain of 14 specialty stores featuring women's apparel and accessories, is scheduled to open a new store at 13 Main St. in Andover next month.

The store will take the spot currently occupied by Annie Dakota, also a women's clothing store, which opened in that spot in November of 1993 and is closing at the end of this month.

Irresistibles is owned by John Doub of Marblehead. Its current store locations include Marblehead, the Northshore Mall in Peabody, Concord and Wellesley.

The 980-square-foot Andover store will open in mid October, according to

Lisa Walker, a spokesperson for the company.

School Building Committee Decides not to hire consultant on 'buildable' question

By Neil Fater

At least for the time being, the School Building Committee has decided it won't hire a consultant to determine whether the Andover High School plans are buildable. The question for at least one resident is when did the committee decide this.

Thursday, Sept. 7, Jim Marsh, building committee chairman, asked the committee to vote on whether the request to hire a consultant (known as an RFP, or request for proposal) "should be put on hold." The committee did so that night.

But Tom Deso, a Summer Street resident, said state records show the RFP was already canceled from the central register, where such advertisements are placed. Mr. Deso wanted to know who did this and what was the point of taking a vote if the request had already been taken off the central register.

"For the record we're taking it off," said Mr. Marsh.

Mr. Marsh and Sharman Lappin, the town's project manager, then called the RFP in the central register "a draft."

"There was an RFP that was canceled," said Mr. Deso, holding a copy of the cancellation. "You're now voting to cancel it, but it was already canceled by someone."

Asked about the motivation for wanting the RFP canceled, Mr. Marsh would say only that it was withdrawn "under the advice of town counsel."

"The draft was submitted to the town counsel," Ms. Lappin said Friday. "Under advisement by town counsel we're not supposed to comment."

The building committee and Ms. Lappin huddled with town counsel, the High School architects, and a lawyer representing the architects for approximately two hours Aug. 28. They met to discuss litigation involving Stone-Congress, the Andover High contractor that is suing the building committee and the architects for $1.7 million, because the contractor does not believe the architects' plans are buildable. The architects maintain there is nothing wrong with their plans.

Building Com. backs Birnbach

Also at last Thursday's meeting, building committee members said they agree with David Birnbach, School Committee member, that a technology position needs to be created for this school year. Mr. Birnbach said at the last School Committee meeting he doesn't think the schools should wait another year.

Mr. Marsh said Thursday a technology coordinator was always part of the discussions regarding how to most effectively use the approximately $5 million approved as part of the $40.5 million construction project.

"That's part of the deal and if it means less computers because you have to pay for that person or that resource that's money well spent," said Mr. Marsh.

"We're going to have to go to the School Committee meeting and have this discussion with them," said Marjorie Dennis, vice-chairwoman. Ms. Dennis suggested coordinating the appearance with the ad hoc technology committee.

Library: 623-8400

Old Town Hall: 623-8450

Highway Department: 623-8426.

Sterling Oakes denied; Devonshire Place approved

By Don Staruk

Planners approved a 23-lot cluster subdivision off Blanchard Street and a nine-lot subdivision off Stafford Lane Tuesday night, but denied the request for approval of a 12-lot subdivision off Rattlesnake Hill Road.

Devonshire Place

Twenty-two new houses will be built at Devonshire Place, a new cul-de-sac that will run off the east side of Blanchard Street 800 feet south of Osgood Street, and Lenox Circle, which will run off Devonshire. The 23rd lot, which is 9,341 square feet, will be transferred to an abutter in exchange for a small triangle of land to be used for the access road. The cluster design will provide 11.44 acres of open space to the town, much of it nearly flat and dry and suitable for recreation, according to Bill McLeod of Andover Consultants Inc., engineers for the plan.

The 34-acre development will be on land that formerly was part of Dargoonian Farm, where vegetables used to be grown. Operations for the farm, owned by Ben and Red Dargoonian and now run by Ben's son, Tom, have since been moved to the east side of the road. The developer is

United Way sets fund-raising goal of $5.6m

The United Way of Merrimack Valley has announced an aggressive campaign fund-raising goal of $5,642,812. The amount reflects an increase of 4 percent over last year's goal of $5.4 million, which was raised. The United Way of Merrimack Valley provides funds to 59 health and human services agencies in 34 communities in northeastern Massachusetts and southern New Hampshire.

Some 450 people attended a kickoff luncheon cookout for the campaign. It was sponsored by 21 area businesses on the grounds of AT&T in North Andover.

Campaign Chairman Robert F. Hatem of Raytheon announced the organizational goal after area leaders announced individual goals for Greater Lawrence, Greater Haverhill, Greater Lowell, Amesbury/Newburyport and southern New Hampshire. The organizational goal of $5.6 million, said Mr. Hatem, represents the total of community goals, expected contributions from other United Ways, and anticipated contributions from UWON, a regional United Way comprised of 23 local United Ways.

"We've experienced downsizing and the loss of manufacturing jobs, which have put a strain on the United Way," said Mr. Hatem. "We know how difficult it is to raise money in times like this. But we have hundreds of community volunteers who have set their sights on Reaching out... Changing lives, this year's campaign theme."

Toastmasters celebrates 25 years

Celebrating its 25th year as one of the longest running Toastmasters clubs in New England, Merrimacks Club 508 announced the installment of its new club officers.

Dan Yetter, an engineer at AT&T in North Andover who has been active in Toastmasters for more than four years, is the newly elected president. Tod Wakeman, who works at AEG Schneider Automation, also in North Andover, is vice president of education. Peter Crocker, general manager at PGA Realty Trust, is the new vice president of membership. Other officers include treasurer Steve Palladino, an auditor and financial consultant at Century 21 in Burlington; secretary Floyd Greenwood, retired mechanical engineer; sergeant at arms Marvin Rice, a sales representative at Elec-trolux in Salem, N.H.; and Vikki Quick, vice president of public relations, who is a marketing manager at Agfa Division of Bayer, in Wilmington.

The Merrimacks Club 508 has about 35 members who have joined to improve presentation or leadership skills. Several members are new to the club, while others have achieved the distinction of Certified Toastmaster (CTM) and the more advanced Able Toastmaster (ATM), awarded to members having completed prepared speeches that meet specific requirements. Merrimacks Club 508 welcomes guests to any meeting. Merrimacks Club 508 meets every second and fourth Monday from 7-9 p.m. at the Prescott House in North Andover. Call Vikki Quick at (603) 437-8210 for more information.

Thomas H. Rauh

Thomas H. Rauh of Andover has taken over as president of Research & Planning Inc. of Cambridge.

Mr. Rauh has an MBA from Babson College and a BS from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. He has been associated with RP for 10 years. Prior to that he was employed by Wang Laboratories, Polaroid Corporation and Olin Corporation.

Research & Planning Inc., a management and technology consulting firm, specializes in the development of executive information and decision support systems and the implementation of enterprise-wide business software solutions.

Valerie Roberts

Valerie Roberts, from the DeWolfe New England Andover office, recently was honored by the company for significant sales achievement in the first half of 1995. Ms. Roberts ranked number 12 out of more than 500 agents who work for the company in New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Connecticut.

"Valerie has worked very hard and we are pleased that she is being recognized by the company for her efforts," said Nancy Collins, Andover office manager. "With rising interest rates many agents found their sales were slower. Valerie has persevered through this sluggish market and I don't know of anyone who deserves this recognition more."

The Andover resident has been in the real estate business since 1977. She came to DeWolfe New England in 1984 when her firm was purchased by the DeWolfe Company. Ms. Roberts is consistently recognized by the company for superior quality service and is a member of the DeWolfe New England Presidents Club and Founders Club.

Art Rousmaniere

Art Rousmaniere of Andover has joined with two industrial designers to form Manta Product Development of Cambridge, a design and engineering firm dedicated to the development of a wide range of consumer, business, and industrial products. Prior to forming this new firm, Mr. Rousmaniere was at Design Continuum in Boston, where he was a principal engineer and part owner.

The three members of the newly-formed Manta merge experiences with clients in the medical field including Smith and Nephew Dyonics and Instrumentation Laboratories, the sporting goods field including Reebok, Salomon and Rollerblade, and the industrial electronics field including Teradyne, Pacific Scientific and Bailey Controls. Other clients have included Polaroid and Herman Miller.

Mr. Rousmaniere and his wife, Jennifer, and children, Adam and Kelly, have lived in Andover for more than five years and are all involved with youth soccer and Sanborn School.

Robert M. Brendle

Robert M. Brendle, son of Thomas M. and Judith S. Brendle of 28 Woodhaven Drive, received practical work in military leadership at the ROTC advanced camp at Fort Bragg, Fayetteville, N.C. The camp is attended by cadets normally between their third and fourth year of college. He is a student at Duke University in Durham, N.C., and a 1992 graduate of Phillips Academy.

Actually, when you're selling your home, you need an agent who is a little bit of both.

LINDA CUTTER is both the tortoise and the hare—with quick reactions to avoid hairy problems, and the protection of a methodical marketing plan to help you avoid shell shock.

You know the fable about the tortoise and the hare. When pitted against each other in a race the outcome provided a lesson for all of us. The hare, although blessed with speed, was cursed with cockiness and laziness. The tortoise, encumbered with a lack of speed, still won the race through determination, stamina and persistence.

An Important Lesson

Believe it or not, there's an important lesson in this fable if you happen to be selling your home. The real estate professional you select to assist you should have the qualities of both the tortoise and the hare.

The Starting Gate

understands what it takes to put together a successful home sale. First, to get your home sold it is critical to get a good start out of the gate. The first few weeks of a listing are vitally important—buyers and brokers alike are watching for new arrivals and first impressions are important. Like the rabbit, Linda works quickly and accurately for you.

The Proverbial Finish Line

Like the tortoise, Linda knows that step-by-step is the best way to make sure you come out a winner. Linda believes it's not her job to rush you to the finish line—anyone can sell a home quickly if it is underpriced. You'll find her methodically planned marketing and pricing strategies are just what you need to create a happy ending to your home sale. Call Linda today. You'll finish a winner.

Variable annuities offer tax-deferred savings

For the long-term investor

Millions of Americans are looking for tax-advantaged ways to supplement Social Security and employer-sponsored retirements. More and more investors have turned their attention to variable annuities, particularly in the wake of tax law changes that have tightened and limited tax deferred retirement savings options. For example, while IRAs generally do not have the same insurance-related charges as variable annuities, they do have other strict limitations. The maximum annual contribution to an IRA is $2,000, and the account holder must begin taking distributions at age 70½. By contrast, variable annuities have no legal limitations on the amount you can invest, and distributions from non-IRA variable annuities can begin much later, often as late as age 85.

What is a variable annuity?

Variable annuities are issued by insurance companies and often distributed by brokerage firms. Basically, they are similar to portfolios of mutual funds with an added insurance feature. The insurance contract provides for tax deferral on investment earnings and a guaranteed death benefit. Investors in variable annuities direct their investments in a choice of fund portfolios. Because the investment performance of the funds will fluctuate, the account balance of the annuity can go up or down with market conditions. This differs from a fixed rate annuity, in which an investor is locked into a rate of return set by the insurance company.

Other important features

Variable annuities can not only provide tax advantages but can also provide a sophisticated investment vehicle. Investors can switch between the fund in a variable annuity tax-free, as market conditions or investment goals change.

The death benefit in a variable annuity assures that an investor's designated beneficiary receives the principal amount invested — less any previous withdrawals and/or distributions — or the current account value, whichever is greater.

When an investor chooses to begin receiving retirement income, a number of payout options are available.

Who should consider a variable annuity?

Variable annuities may be an appropriate investment if you are:

Credit granting decisions made in relation to risk

Once upon a time, when people actually paid cash for products and services, you had to ask, "Do you accept (fill in the blank: Visa, MasterCard, Discover, American Express, Diner's Club, etc.)?" Now it's a given.

Today, many people carry only enough money in their wallets to make it to the next automated teller machine. They purchase gasoline, clothing, eye exams, vacations, groceries, concerts, office supplies — virtually everything — with credit cards. Plastic has evolved into the currency of choice.

Yet credit remains elusive and mysterious. How do lenders decide whether to give you a credit card or loan? TRW Information Services, which collects and reports credit-related information on consumers nationwide, explains how credit granting decisions are made.

What lenders look for

Potential creditors review credit applications primarily in relation to risk. It doesn't matter how civic-minded you are or whether you're kind to animals. Hard facts count far more than mitigating circumstances.

TRW said lenders consider information such as your income, level of education, how long you've lived at your present address, what kinds of assets you have, the balances in your checking and savings accounts, your promptness in paying bills, how long you've been working at the same company, and how much you owe other creditors.

All of these factors fit into three categories: character, capacity and credit.

The three Cs

Credit grantors develop a feeling of your character through such objective factors as length of residency and employment. They get this information from your credit application.

Depending on the lender, type of loan and loan amount, the lender may independently verify details on your application.

Capacity refers to the amount of debt you can realistically pay given your income.

Lenders look at your living expenses, current debts and the additional payments that the proposed new obligation would require. This information comes from your credit application and credit report.

Lenders also examine your existing credit relationships: credit cards, bank loans, mortgages, etc.

They ask questions such as: what are your credit limits? How close to those limits are your current balances? How long have you had each account? Do you pay your bills on time? The answers come primarily from your credit report which the lender requests from TRW or one of the hundreds of credit reporting agencies and bureaus.

A perfect credit report

Few lenders require a spotless credit history — one with virtually no late payments, unpaid bills, repossessions, accounts turned over to a collection agency, legal judgments, liens or bankruptcies — before granting credit.

When deciding whether to grant a loan, all lenders make a judgment about each applicant's character, capacity and credit. However, they use different criteria and make distinct decisions based on individual experiences as lenders.

In other words, said TRW, a particular applicant might be granted credit from one lender but not from another.

For example, someone with problems in the past — a series of over-60-days-late payments, say, but a good payment record during the last 24 to 48 months — could be considered a good credit risk by some lenders.

On the other hand, someone who hasn't had any credit cards longer than six months but has run all of them to the limit might not be a good candidate for more credit.

Learning from credit denials

If your credit application is turned down, review the reasons, advises TRW. Determine if you can decrease your risk factors by paying off debt, for example, or maintaining your current payments over time.

Regardless of your past, it's important to remember that a better credit history can begin today.

Variable annuities offer tax-deferred savings

- in a higher tax bracket,
- a long-term, retirement-oriented investor,
- making the maximum contribution to your employer retirement plan or your IRA,

or

- an owner of a fixed annuity looking for the higher return you may realize from a professionally-managed stock or bond fund.

What to consider when choosing a variable annuity?

When choosing a variable annuity, look for an investment that has no "loads" or sales commissions. Also look for a variable annuity with low annual fees. The lower your variable annuity expenses, the greater your potential for higher net returns. Even small differences in expenses can have significant impact on overall return.

You should also consider the variable annuity's investment flexibility — are you allowed an ample number of fund transfers each year? A broad selection of funds from a number of well-known fund families is also important. Make certain the variable annuity has no surrender charges. Many contracts impose fees — some as high as 7.5 percent during the first year — for early withdrawals or distributions.

Fixed-rate mortgage demand rises

Recent upward movement on adjustable rate mortgages (ARMs) is now narrowing the difference between ARMs and fixed rates, and is making fixed-rate products more attractive than ever. As fixed-rate products provide the opportunity to lock in a rate, consumers are finding them to be the smartest choice in a rising rate environment, according to Countrywide Funding Corporation, the nation's largest mortgage lender and servicer.

"Due to the Federal Reserve raising short-term interest rates several times in the past year, many consumers are concerned about the possibility of rates rising again," said Jane Potter, Countrywide's senior vice president. "Fixed-rate loans can provide these borrowers with the peace of mind of predictable mortgage payments."

The recent upward movement on ARMs is also prompting homeowners with an existing adjustable rate mortgage to refinance. Refinancing to a fixed rate can allow these homeowners to lock in a rate, and will give them the comfort and security of knowing their payment will never change for as long as they have the loan.

SOUND TAX PLANNING = CASH FLOW = INVESTMENT CAPABILITIES

At Moody, Cavanaugh and Company, we have always taken the position that proper tax planning is necessary for maximizing cash flow - cash flow needed to make sound investment decisions.

In order to evaluate an investment, you need to know its after-tax return - how much you can expect to earn after taxes. But keeping up with current tax law and its impact on investing has become an increasingly complex task. At Moody, Cavanaugh and Company we are current with federal, state and local tax laws. # Planners approve Warwick Estates, deny Sterling Oakes

Dargoonian Brothers Realty Trust.

The plan approved Tuesday is the latest of a number of subdivision plans proposed for the property in the last 11 years. A 20-lot plan approved in 1991 will be withdrawn as soon as the 20-day appeal period for Tuesday's approval expires.

One highlight of the new plan is a pedestrian link between Osgood Street and Blanchard Road.

Warwick Estates

Planners approved the nine-lot Warwick Estates subdivision off Stafford Road subject to 37 conditions, one of which requires the upkeep and maintenance of a dam at Hussey's Pond, which abuts the development.

The plan calls for a cul-de-sac, Warwick Circle, to serve all nine lots on 9.85 acres.

It also includes the creation of

Hussey's Pond Homeowners Association for the purpose of maintaining Hussey's Pond and Hussey's Brook.

Sterling Oakes

Planners denied developer Richard Rubino's application for approval of the 12-lot Sterling Oakes subdivision off Rocky Hill Road.

The development has been opposed by residents who claim the development would not be possible were it not for previous illegal drainage of wetlands on the property.

In their denial, planners cited a variety of technical problems, and time restrictions that gave them only until Sept. 13 to act on the plan. They gave Mr. Rubino an opportunity at the meeting to withdraw the plan without prejudice, which could have saved him several thousand dollars in application fees should he choose to submit a new plan, but he refused the offer.

"I've done everything I need to do. I think you need to vote," Mr. Rubino said.

The vote was 4-0 for denying the application.

DON'T LET THEM DO IT!

The U.S. Congress is at it again! Despite all the hubbub about easing the tax burden on middle-income families, yet another tax reform bill is on the floor of the U.S. Senate. Sponsored by Sen. Bob Packwood, R-Ore., this bill would lower the total mortgage indebtedness from which you could deduct your interest payments from $1 million to $250,000. Since 75% of the taxpayers who claimed the deduction in 1993 made under $75,000, the middle-class will be hit hardest by this reduction.

The "great" tax reform bill of 1986 had the net effect of reducing real estate values across the nation. A savings and loan crisis followed, along with a reduction in almost everyone's net worth and retirement nest eggs.

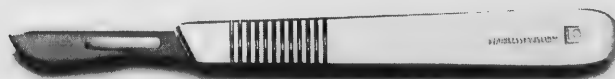

This bill would have an even greater effect of dampening the real estate market, forcing many would-be buyers to remain renters. An equal number of potential sellers would be forced to stay put and watch the value of their home decrease.

Don't let them do it! You can act immediately by calling your U.S. Senators to let them know of your unconditional opposition to reducing the mortgage interest deduction level. You can reach your Senators through their state offices (phone numbers are in your telephone directory and/or newspaper) or through the White House switchboard, 202-224-3121, (8am - 5pm EDT).

If you are considering a move, contact the professionals at Century 21 Carriage House. Call us at 474-1243, or stop by our office at 10 High Street.

PROSTATE SEED IMPLANT

Cutting-edge prostate cancer treatment doesn't require a cutting edge.

If you or a loved one has prostate cancer, there could be an alternative to radical surgery. It's called radioactive seed implant therapy. And Holy Family Hospital is one of the few hospitals in New England to offer this innovative breakthrough treatment against prostate cancer. No invasive surgery nor prolonged external radiation is required. And implantation typically takes about an hour. Normal activities are resumed the next day—most of the time while retaining complete urinary and sexual functions, and with few or no long-term side effects. For more information on prostate seed implant therapy, contact Holy Family Hospital at (508) 688-1861.

NEWS FOR SENIORS

There is an incredible amount of talent among the seniors. It is perhaps most evident at the craft fair/bazaar, which will be announced shortly. Recently about a dozen women were gluing final touches on hand-crafted and seasonal decorations that will be on sale at the bazaar. Perhaps you would like to join the crafty group. Additional hand-crafted items are available at the Senior Center gift shop, which is open daily from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Fall classes have begun. Among the new classes is an oil painting class taught by Mary Bailey. She is the artist who painted the picture of the Abbot House in the lobby.

The Widow/Widowers Support Group will meet for eight sessions, beginning Thursday, Sept. 14, at 1 p.m.

Congratulations to all who completed the CPR class conducted by Jim Bates,

Mr. Bates will conduct a monthly health/wellness series. The content will be determined by those topics for which the most interest is expressed. He will also conduct a strength and resistance exercise program twice weekly, once a week at the Senior Center and once at Sutton Hill.

The class schedule has not yet been determined. Watch this column for further information.

The movie, Mrs. Doubtfire, will be shown Monday, Sept. 18, at 12:30 p.m.

Hearing tests are scheduled for Friday, Sept. 15, and Thursday, Sept. 28, from 10 a.m. to noon. Schedule an appointment in advance. There is no charge. Call 470-3830.

Welcome reception

Join us Friday, Sept. 15, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. for light refreshments as we welcome Jeanne Madden, our new director of Senior Services.

MENUS

The following meals will be served at the Senior Center next week:

Monday: Beef Wellington, mashed potatoes, pineapple.

Tuesday: Turkey, carrot, ice cream.

Wednesday: Salisbury steak with onion gravy, white rice, corn, fruit.

Thursday: Roast pork loin, potato wedges, green beans, cake with frosting.

Friday: Fried shrimp, french fries, coleslaw, pudding.

For reservation, call 470-3830 before 2 p.m. on the business day before the lunch you plan to attend. Fried chicken will be served Monday, Sept. 25, and roast beef Tuesday, Sept. 26.

Planners approve Warwick Estates, deny Sterling Oakes

Dargoonian Brothers Realty Trust.

The plan approved Tuesday is the latest of a number of subdivision plans proposed for the property in the last 11 years. A 20-lot plan approved in 1991 will be withdrawn as soon as the 20-day appeal period for Tuesday's approval expires.

One highlight of the new plan is a pedestrian link between Osgood Street and Blanchard Road.

Warwick Estates
Planners approved the nine-lot Warwick Estates subdivision off Stafford Road subject to 37 conditions, one of which requires the upkeep and maintenance of a dam at Hussey's Pond, which abuts the development.

The plan calls for a cul-de-sac, Warwick Circle, to serve all nine lots on 9.85 acres.

It also includes the creation of

Hussey's Pond Homeowners Association for the purpose of maintaining Hussey's Pond and Hussey's Brook.

Sterling Oakes
Planners denied developer Richard Rubino's application for approval of the 12-lot Sterling Oakes subdivision off Rocky Hill Road.

The development has been opposed by residents who claim the development would not be possible were it not for previous illegal drainage of wetlands on the property.

In their denial, planners cited a variety of technical problems, and time restrictions that gave them only until Sept. 13 to act on the plan. They gave Mr. Rubino an opportunity at the meeting to withdraw the plan without prejudice, which could have saved him several thousand dollars in application fees.

should he choose to submit a new plan, but he refused the offer.

"I've done everything I need to do. I think you need to vote," Mr. Rubino said.

The vote was 4-0 for denying the application.

THE REAL ESTATE CORNER

with Jean Fitzgerald & Pamela Lebowitz

DON'T LET THEM DO IT!

The U.S. Congress is at it again! Despite all the hubbub about easing the tax burden on middle-income families, yet another tax reform bill is on the floor of the U.S. Senate. Sponsored by Sen. Bob Packwood, R-Ore., this bill would lower the total mortgage indebtedness from which you could deduct your interest payments from $1 million to $250,000. Since 75% of the taxpayers who claimed the deduction in 1993 made under $75,000, the middle-class will be hit hardest by this reduction.

The "great" tax reform bill of 1986 had the net effect of reducing real estate values across the nation. A savings and loan crisis followed, along with a reduction in almost everyone's net worth and retirement nest eggs.

This bill would have an even greater effect of dampening the real estate market, forcing many would-be buyers to remain renters. An equal number of potential sellers would be forced to stay put and watch the value of their home decrease.

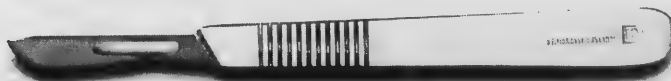

Don't let them do it! You can act immediately by calling your U.S. Senators to let them know of your unconditional opposition to reducing the mortgage interest deduction level. You can reach your Senators through their state offices (phone numbers are in your telephone directory and/or newspaper) or through the White House switchboard, 202-224-3121, (9am - 5pm EDT).

If you are considering a move, contact the professionals at Century 21 Carriage House. Call us at 474-1243, or stop by our office at 10 High Street.

Cutting-edge prostate cancer treatment doesn't require a cutting edge.

If you or a loved one has prostate cancer, there could be an alternative to radical surgery. It's called radioactive seed implant therapy. And Holy Family Hospital is one of the few hospitals in New England to offer this innovative breakthrough treatment against prostate cancer. No invasive surgery nor prolonged external radiation is required. And implantation typically takes about an hour. Normal activities are resumed the next day—most of the time while retaining complete urinary and sexual functions, and with few or no long-term side effects. For more information on prostate seed implant therapy, contact Holy Family Hospital at (508) 688-1861.

NEWS FOR SENIORS

There is an incredible amount of talent among the seniors. It is perhaps most evident at the craft fair/bazaar, which will be announced shortly. Recently about a dozen women were gluing final touches on hand-crafted and seasonal decorations that will be on sale at the bazaar. Perhaps you would like to join the crafty group. Additional hand-crafted items are available at the Senior Center gift shop, which is open daily from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Fall classes have begun. Among the new classes is an oil painting class taught by Mary Bailey. She is the artist who painted the picture of the Abbot House in the lobby.

The Widow/Widowers Support Group will meet for eight sessions, beginning Thursday, Sept. 14, at 1 p.m.

Congratulations to all who completed the CPR class conducted by Jim Bates,

Mr. Bates will conduct a monthly health/wellness series. The content will be determined by those topics for which the most interest is expressed. He will also conduct a strength and resistance exercise program twice weekly; once a week at the Senior Center and once at Sutton Hill.

The class schedule has not yet been determined. Watch this column for further information.

The movie, Mrs. Doubtfire, will be shown Monday, Sept. 18, at 12:30 p.m.

Hearing tests are scheduled for Friday, Sept. 15, and Thursday, Sept. 28, from 10 a.m. to noon. Schedule an appointment in advance. There is no charge. Call 470-3830.

Welcome reception

Join us Friday, Sept. 15, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. for light refreshments as we welcome Jeanne Madden, our new director of Senior Services.

MENUS

The following meals will be served at the Senior Center next week:

Monday: Beef Wellington, mashed potatoes, pineapple.

Tuesday: Turkey, carrot, ice cream.

Wednesday: Salisbury steak with onion gravy, white rice, corn, fruit.

Thursday: Roast pork loin, potato wedges, green beans, cake with frosting.

Friday: Fried shrimp, french fries, coleslaw, pudding.

For reservation, call 470-3830 before 2 p.m. on the business day before the lunch you plan to attend. Fried chicken will be served Monday, Sept. 25, and roast beef Tuesday, Sept. 26.

Jay Leno takes his first Emmy

Granted, I have his private number, but he still picks up the phone and says, 'Hi.' He's still down to earth and wants to know what's going on here. He's more interested in what's going on in my life, with my kids."

Mr. Leno ended his status as an Emmy-less American by winning the award for outstanding performance in a variety, music or comedy series. Ms. Leno's Tonight Show beat out Dennis Miller Live, M T V Unplugged, Politically Incorrect with Bill Maher, and the Late Show with David Letterman for the honor.

"This is amazing to me. I don't know what to say," Mr. Leno said during his brief acceptance speech. "I'm stunned. Thank you very much. As my dad would say, fight the good fight."

'Jay's there for the long haul. He'll be there for years to come.'

Although some media outlets were labeling the victory as a turning point in Mr. Leno's battle for late-night supremacy with David Letterman, both his friends said that subject did not come up during their conversations.

"Jay's there for the long haul. He'll be there for years to come," said Mr. Trumbore. "He doesn't let things bother him. When the ratings weren't up there, he let things slide off his back. He doesn't let it get to him."

"His show has been great lately. The ratings are up," noted Mr. Russem. "It's running real smoothly."

How did Andover's favorite son celebrate? "He isn't one to celebrate, he really isn't. His birthday's no big day," said Mr. Trumbore. "His real joy is his cars - besides his work."

WHEN WE DESIGNED THESE ACCOUNTS, WE CONSULTED THE EXPERTS.

When we designed our new savings programs for young customers, we went right to the source. We found out that they're as interested in service, safety, convenience and saving for the future as we are.

That's why First Essex is proud to introduce two unique new savings programs, created especially for kids!

- Kid's Club - a passbook account featuring special incentives and promotions.
- For young customers from infancy to age 12.
- A great way to watch savings grow.
- Prep Savings, for teenagers and young adults, ages 12-18.
- A statement savings program, to help develop money management skills.
- Also features savings incentives and promotions, with special ATM access.*

And, for a limited time, we'll offer our new Kid's Club and Prep Savings customers a free, neon sports wallet.**

Please visit one of our convenient banking centers, or call us at (508) 681-7500 for more information.

We have a complete line of financial programs and loan packages for customers of all ages.

dachshund named Trixie.

Now she will add ABC tutor to her impressive list of accomplishments.

A Better Chance is a program that brings successful minority students from cities into suburbs like Andover to live and attend school. Andover ABC representatives believe Ms. Reid's experience will help her identify with what students are going through adjusting to life in predominately-white Andover.

"I think the experience that I've had in working in a predominantly white male setting has exposed me to the challenges and sometimes problems with that setting," said Ms. Reid.

"Sometimes in life it's nice to talk to someone who is like yourself and has had the same experiences. I can talk with the students and sympathize but I won't be able to empathize," said Susan Bourland, Andover ABC vice-president. "Tina's older, she's kind of seen it all. She's also very calm and I think she would be very reflective."

While Ms. Reid may have seen it all, unfortunately she cannot hear as well as she once did.

After she graduated from college in 1956, Ms. Reid began her first job, studying rheumatoid arthritis at Johns Hopkins Medical School in Baltimore. Working as a research chemist, Ms. Reid was stationed near an ultrasonic centrifuge. Although she did not know it, the machine was slowly damaging nerves in her ear.

In fact, Ms. Reid was a couple of years removed from that job before she noticed her hearing deteriorating. It was not until three years later that she used her first hearing aid.

It is because of this hearing loss that Ms. Reid now travels everywhere with Trixie, her hearing dog. According to Ms. Reid, Trixie is trained to identify about 12 sounds, such as a telephone ring and an alarm clock.

"They're not supposed to bark ever, although Trixie doesn't think this applies to her," Ms. Reid said with a big smile. "With the alarm clock, she jumps up on the bed and makes a great show of licking me until I get up."

Three days a week this year, Trixie will awaken Ms. Reid so she can travel the 62 miles from her Charlton home to Andover. But this distance is not a problem, said Ms. Reid.

"When I was working for the agency I used to commute 75 miles one way," she said, "so anything less than 150 miles is a steal."

Working for the CIA

The agency Ms. Reid refers to is one normally referred to in purely capital letters — the CIA.

Ms. Reid worked as a Washington, D.C., branch chief for several years, before deciding to put in for another assignment. She ended up as Boston's station chief and was responsible for recruitment. By coming to Boston she also ended her commuter marriage and was again able to live with her husband who already was living in Massachusetts.

"I knew I wanted to become more involved with people than with things," Ms. Reid said of the decision. Ms. Reid was first introduced to the ABC program while she was a CIA recruiter, she said. Also during that time, she said she decided to adopt a high school that the CIA could help with science and technology.

"We weren't trying to recruit high school kids (at Worcester South High School) or make them want to work for the agency but we wanted to create any excitement for science and technology. We always pushed the state of the art," she said.

Ms. Reid said the students "just wanted to know everything" about agency work and were taught about things such as secret writing, overhead photography and map making.

Her experience with the high-schoolers deepened her belief that she wanted to work with people, particularly young people.

But when government downsizing hit the CIA, Ms. Reid was faced with a choice: Return to Washington or do something new.

"I thought if I wanted to do something different this was the time to do it. Plus I had become used to living with my husband and wanted to continue to do that," she said. "But it was an exciting career."

Ms. Reid moved on but continued working with young people, teaching and tutoring at her church and in Worcester colleges. Years before, Ms. Reid had created an upward mobility program that prepared those in "dead-end" Army jobs for college preparatory tests. Since that time she knew she enjoyed tutoring and dealing with other people. Tutoring, she said, kept her sharp.

Then, one day her hairdresser, a Baptist woman, asked if she wanted to take religious retreat with her. "More out of curiosity than anything else," Ms. Reid accepted.

"I had sort of a conversion experience," she said. "I felt that I was in the presence of the Holy Spirit. I didn't see the burning bush and I wasn't hit by lightning or anything like that but when I came home my husband said, 'What happened? You seem so different.'"

Since then, Ms. Reid has enrolled in an Andover Newton Theological School masters program. As a result she will be doing her field work at West Parish Church, which hooked her up with Andover's young people," said Ms. Reid. ABC program.

"My long-range goal is not to become the minister of a church but I would like to work with

Ms. Reid certainly will get her chance this year. She may also have more questions than even she can handle.

Classes begin at Pike School

Classes began Monday at Pike School for 408 students from 31 communities in the Merrimack Valley.

"We are a very healthy school," admission director Margaret Cohn told her colleagues at opening meetings of the faculty. She was referring to the increase in applications in each of the past several years. Pike continues to maintain its one-to-eight faculty/student ratio.

Susan Fisher, a full-time technology coordinator, is an additional member of the Pike staff this year. Pike students from pre-school through grades 9 have computers integrated into their curriculum and every teacher has a personal laptop computer. To supplement all the equipment used by students, Pike has purchased 18 new computers, four new color printers, a digital camera, a color scanner, and what Ms. Fisher termed "a myriad of software." Pike's goal is to be a leader among schools in using computers as an integral learning tool.

A two-day orientation program was held for students entering the Upper School. Fifty-six new and returning sixth-graders spent Sept. 5 and 6 on campus with leadership training staff from Camp Kieve in Nobleboro, Maine. Activities were designed to introduce a sense of community within the group, something sixth-grade advisers will continue to develop throughout the year.

Pike, founded in 1926, is located on Sunset Rock Road.

SCHOOLTALK

The first meeting of the Andover High School Parent Advisory Council (PAC) will be held Monday, Sept. 18, at 7:30 p.m. in the library annex.

Members of the board for the 1995-'96 school year are: Kathy Hess, president; Donna LeCam and Kathy Demko, vice presidents; Marisa Kafantis, treasurer; Lisa Famiglietti, recording secretary; Lori Jordan, corresponding secretary/cultural enrichment; Carol Viola and Sean Gresh, newsletter; Carole Chanler, career day; Sandy Parziale and Valerie Jackson, faculty liaison; Mary Ann Scaia, community liaison; and Bill Becker, faculty representative.

All parents are welcome to attend.

The Andover Chapter 766 PAC will start the year Wednesday, Sept. 20, with the presentation of its Teacher of the Year awards for 1994-'95. Fourteen individuals were nominated for this award by parents and members of the PAC, to recognize their outstanding efforts and contributions in special education.

Each of the following people will be recognized and honored at the meeting: Frank Rapisardi and Steve Jan-kauskas;—South; Nancy Lundgren, Sanborn; Patty Harak and Carol Hull, the Early Childhood Program at Shawsheen; Ann Wilson, Doherty Middle School; Erin Manship, Ruth Trepanier and former principal Sam Campbell, West Middle School; Laura Berardi and Maureen Wittbold, West Elementary; Cliff Bourie, Bancroft, and John Pierce and Betty Iannuccilli of Andover High School.

The recognition ceremony at 7:30 p.m. will be followed by a short break before the presentation by Anne Dinsmore Case, Ed.D., an educational consultant and project director of the study of the special education services provided by the Andover public schools. Ms. Case will report on the process she will use in the study and how it will be conducted. Ms. Case welcomes parental input and will involve parents in the study. Organizers said this will be a great chance for parents to express concerns or satisfactions with the services their children receive; as well as an opportunity to express their desire to be more involved in the evaluation process.

The meeting will be held on the third floor of the School Administration Building.

***
Merrimack College will host the

New England Association of College Admissions Counselors' 1995 Fall College Fair.

The dates and place are Monday, Sept. 25, from 7 to 9 p.m., and Tuesday, Sept. 26, from 9 a.m. to noon at Volpe Athletic Center.

More than 10,000 high school seniors, their parents, teachers and guidance counselors are expected to tour the exhibits of more than 275 colleges and universities.

Financial-aid information will also be available.

Merrimack and the Admissions Counselors Association have co-sponsored the fall college fair, the largest of the 12 fairs throughout New England, for

FINANCIAL STRATEGIES

by Ronald R. Hill, CLU, ChFC

THE PAYOFF FOR STUDENTS

According to the Student Loan Marketing Association (Sallie Mae), today's average college graduate owes $17,000 in private and government school loans. Fortunately, the Department of Education and Sallie Mae have instituted new programs that help students pay off these loans according to schedules that they can select. For instance, the Education Department's "income contingent" plan allows graduates to target their monthly payments to a fixed percentage of their salaries. In addition, Sallie Mae "smart rewards" and "great rewards" programs give interest rate discounts once graduates establish histories of paying their bills on time. Lastly, Sallie Mae will cut interest rates by 14 percent if graduates agree to have their payments automatically deducted from their checking accounts. In order to learn more about the investment and tactical options available to you when planning to meet educational costs, please give us a call soon. We look forward to hearing from you.

We go the "extra mile" for our clients at BAYSTATE FINANCIAL SERVICES, whether they are students, senior citizens, or heads of households. We're able to offer the benefits of sophisticated services and technology at a local level. We have a long history of stability and success as a full-service financial planning firm. We're proud of that history and success, and expect to continue our fine record at 10 Essex Street here in Andover. Our phone number is 475-9212. Our Boston office is located at 100 N. Washington Street, (617) 523-4500.

HINT: Taken together, the programs mentioned above can save a graduate with $20,000 in loans as much as $2,102 over the life of the loan.

COMFORT

The winter was long and hard and our son Alex had a sore throat it seemed all through the season. At our last visit to the pediatrician, the doctor suggested a tonsillectomy. She made arrangements for the Day Surgery team at Lawrence General to do the procedure. Off we went on a bright and sunny Tuesday morning in early spring. The staff made Alex feel special. They understood that while this might be one of hundreds of tonsillectomies they'd do this year, it was the only one our son was going to have. And the fact that he'd be in and out in one day made it so much easier on him and on us.

RESPECT

The doctors and nurses explained everything to us. I was especially impressed with the way they spoke directly to Alex. Being treated that way really seemed to calm him. But what mattered most was the way they treated our family. They used a smile as well as they used their high-tech surgical equipment, and it sure worked for us.

this Sunday

The Unitarian Universalist Congregation in Andover welcomes guest violinist Josef Porteleki this Sunday, Sept. 17, while Eleanor Richardson shares her experiences as music director at the UU/UCC Conference Center on Star Island, off Portsmouth, N.H., this past summer.

Mr. Porteleki is the son of Austrian and Hungarian parents. He spent the first 12 years of his life in Vienna.

Ms. Richardson will relate her insights on the nature of God and the larger Unitarian Universalist movement, gained during 11 weeks under the "Big Sky" 12 miles out at sea. A child-dedication ceremony will also be held for Ian Anthony Whitney, son of David and Roberta Whitney. Visitors are welcome at the 10:30 a.m. service, at 6 Locke St.

Free Christian Church continues its 150th anniversary celebration with Rally Day, picnic in The Park

The Free Christian Church continued a year-long celebration of its 150th anniversary with an old-fashioned picnic in The Park on Sunday, Sept. 10.

Sunday was Rally Day at the 31 Elm St. church, a time to return to the fall schedule of two morning worship services and sign up for Sunday School classes, small groups, and fellowship/ministry opportunities. The congregation gathered around picnic baskets at noon to enjoy entertainment by two quartets of international a cappella: Sweet Adeline/Sophisticated Jazz and Main Street Jazz.

Temple Emanuel welcomes in new year

By Rabbi Robert S. Goldstein

As summer turns to fall, Jews all over the world begin to prepare for the coming of Rosh Hashana and Yom Kippur. This year Rosh Hashana begins at sunset on Sunday, Sept. 24, and Yom Kippur begins at sunset Tuesday, Oct. 3.

Literally, Rosh Hashana means the head of the year, or the beginning of the year. Rosh Hashana traditionally marks the creation of the world, which occurs during the Hebrew month of Tishri.

In the Bible, Rosh Hashana is referred to as "a day of blowing the horn." This horn, or shofar as it is known in Hebrew, is blown during the services. In ancient Israel, the ram's horn was used to announce public events or to warn against impending danger. The shofar is sounded to proclaim God's sovereignty. Its piercing sound is also a symbolic call for all people to repent.

Repentance is really the essence of the season. Another name for these High Holy Days are "Days of Awe," when all humankind stand before the Divine throne for judgment. It is an occasion for introspection and self-evaluation, and is a very serious and solemn time.

Yom Kippur, or the Day of Atonement, is the climax of the 10-day period of repentance. The eve of Yom Kippur service is called "Kol Nidre." This begins a fast that is to last 24 hours. The fasting serves as a device to assist the righteous in obtaining forgiveness, not only from God, but also from those the penitent may have wronged during the past year.

During this holiday season, the liturgy in the temple is more extensive, with many special prayers and music added to the service. Temple Emanuel High Holiday services will be led by Robert S. Goldstein and Cantor Donn Rosensweig. For information about the services, call the temple office at 470-1356.

* * *

Temple Emanuel of Andover will celebrate the start of the High Holy Days season Saturday, Sept.

16, at 8:15 p.m. with a Selichot concert featuring Silver and Strings. Elaine Lewin on flute and Priscilla Hunt on violin will present a program of music by Haydn, Mozart, Beethoven and Bartok. The musicians are longtime members of the Melrose Symphony and have been playing at celebrations throughout the area as a team.

It has become a tradition at Temple Emanuel to begin this holy season with a concert, followed by light refreshments and a brief outdoor service of penitential prayers. These events help establish the mood for the Holy Days of Rosh Hashana and Yom Kippur, which begins Sunday evening, Sept. 24.

The public is welcome to help celebrate the beginning of the Jewish New Year.

Temple Emanuel of Andover has announced its service schedule for the High Holy Day observance.

Rosh Hashana, the Jewish New Year, will begin Sunday evening, Sept. 24, and continue Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 25 and 26. Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, the holiest day on the Jewish calendar, will begin Tuesday evening, Oct. 3, and continue Wednesday, Oct. 4.

A children's program is planned for the early and late sessions of Rosh Hashana and Yom Kippur day services. A morning of stories, prayers and crafts, specifically geared to children in pre-school through grade 3, will be offered, under the direction of Alice Radack, nursery school teacher. Children must be pre-registered.

Abbreviated family services will be held the first day of Rosh Hashana, Sept. 25, and on Yom Kippur, Oct. 4, at 3 p.m.

The religious school began Sunday, Sept. 10.

For information and registration for all programs, call the temple office at 470-1356.

***
Cradle Roll is a celebration and learning experience for Jewish families.

The Temple Emanuel Nursery School will offer a hands-on workshop focusing on the celebration of Rosh Hashana and Yom Kippur for 3-, 4- and 5-year-olds and their parents this Sunday, Sept. 17, at 9:30 a.m. The fun-filled hour will include craft projects, storytelling, singing and a sweet snack to celebrate the holiday. The $5 fee may be paid at the door.

Make a reservation by calling the temple office in advance at 470-1356.

***
Congregation Tifereth Israel of Andover will hold its High Holiday Services at Old Town Hall, 20 Main St.

Cantors Jeffrey Cornblatt and Irving Levine will officiate. This is Cantor Levine's fifth year with the Congregation. Cantor Cornblatt, the Congregation's spiritual leader, is in his second year. Services are open to non-members, although tickets are required.

Tickets may be obtained by calling 470-1050 or at the new synagogue at 501 S. Main St., Wednesday, Sept. 13, or Tuesday, Sept. 19, at 7:30 p.m.

The schedule for services is as follows: Selichot will be held at the synagogue Sept. 16 at 8:30 p.m. All other services will be at Old Town Hall. Rosh Hashana services will be Sept. 24 at 6:30 p.m. and Sept. 25 and 26 at 9 a.m.; Kol Nidre will be Oct. 3 at 6 p.m.; and Yom Kippur on Oct. 4 at 9 a.m.

***
Chabad of Merrimack Valley invites the community to Rosh Hashana services Sunday, Sept. 24, and Monday, Sept. 25, at 6:30 p.m.

Your blueprint for a better retirement starts taking shape September 20.

Even the best-laid retirement plans should be flexible, to keep up with your changing interests and needs. That's why it pays to draw on the resources of a community designed to give you more choices for the way you want to live. When Edgewood breaks ground September 20, a bold new era will unfold in the scenic setting of North Andover, less than an hour from Boston's entertainment, shopping and culture. And there's never been a better time for you to be a part of it.

By reserving your Edgewood residence now, you can save thousands through pre-construction pricing; enjoy a wider selection of floorplans and views; exercise more decorating choices; and join your new neighbors in shaping the personality of the community.

Life-care retirement at Edgewood will be all about choices, allowing you to continue your active, independent way of life. Thanks to 24-hour security, you'll feel secure at home and while traveling.

And you'll always have the peace of mind of on-site nursing care. Pre-construction entrance fees start at only $99,700. Call today for more information on Edgewood, the community that's about to break new ground in retirement living: (508) 689-0202.

Free Christian continues its 150th anniversary celebration

Kids and adults competed for blue ribbons in sack- and three-legged races.

A bake-off, judged by church elders, produced the No. 1 apple pie. A blueberry pie-eating contest topped off the event schedule.

The anniversary banner hanging from the bandstand announced the Congregational church's founding in 1846.

From May 1995 to May 1996 the church is recalling its history in a series of observances.

Free Christian Church was established (coincidentally, on the same day as the town of Andover's 200th birthday) by local Scottish mill-owners Smith and Dove and 40 other townspeople, who were convinced that the church must take a strong public stand against slavery.

Free Christian Church may be unique in America in being founded solely on the abolitionist cause, a church spokesperson said. In recent years, as it has returned to its biblical roots, the church has grown to become one of the largest in the Merrimack Valley.

As the 21st century draws near, the church is remembering the vision and faith of its founding families, and renewing its efforts of carrying on the anniversary motto, "Honoring Christ, Serving Others."

The Rev. Dr. Jack L. Daniel has served as its pastor since 1977; associate pastor, Rev. Timothy Boynton has been on staff for three years.

Your Dental HEALTH

by Richard D. Hopgood, D.M.D.

ROOT CAUSES OF PAIN

In the event that a tooth is infected or abscessed, the dentist will likely recommend root canal treatment as a means of saving the tooth. Despite its popular reputation, root canal treatment is not painful. It is the infection of abscess which makes root canal treatment necessary that is painful. Root canal therapy puts an end to this pain by removing the pulp that lies beneath the crown of the tooth and extends down (root) canals into the root(s). Once this soft tissue is removed, the tooth is cleaned, medicated, and filled with a rubber-like material when all traces of infection have disappeared. The affected tooth may then be fitted with a post and crown to render it structurally sound.

Preventive dental care including flossing, brushing, & regular checkups, is the best defense against the need for a root canal in the first place, and can keep your teeth strong and healthy for a lifetime. We believe in an informed patient and will always take the time to answer any questions you might have. Here at 296 Lowell Street, Rt 133, we always keep in mind what it's like to be a patient. Do you know someone new to the neighborhood who doesn't have a dentist? Your referral is one of the finest compliments you can give us. Phone: 475-2431.

Edward F. Cregg

Was lawyer here for more than 50 years, serving on several town boards

Edward F. Cregg, 77, of 46 Sunset Rock Road died Wednesday, Sept. 6, at Lawrence General Hospital after suffering a heart attack at his law office.

He was the son of Dr. Francis A. Cregg and Emily Burke of Methuen. He was educated in Methuen schools until he entered Phillips Academy in 1931. He graduated cum laude from Phillips in 1935 and was awarded the Van Duzer Prize as the outstanding student entering Harvard College. He graduated from Harvard magna cum laude in 1939 and from Harvard Law School in 1942.

Mr. Cregg was a longtime resident of Andover.

He was a lawyer in Greater Lawrence for more than 50 years. He began his law practice with the Boston firm of Withington Cross and later served as an assistant district attorney for Essex County. He opened an office in Lawrence and established the firm of Sherman, Tavenner and Cregg in 1965.

Mr. Cregg was a member of the Andover Finance Committee, counsel for Andover Conservation Commission, president of Greater Lawrence Bar Association, and director of the Tenney Fund, Lawrence Savings Bank, Lawrence General Hospital Ethics Committee and Lanam Club.

Members of his family include his wife, Margaret (Hart) Cregg of Andover; daughter, Linda Neilsen of Lincoln; son, Francis Cregg and granddaughter, Emily Cregg, of New Jersey; sister, Claire Derby of Methuen; and several nieces and nephews.

A Mass was celebrated Saturday at St. Augustine Church. Burial was in Immaculate Conception Cemetery.

Donald C. Bassett

Retired superintendent of water, sewer departments

Donald C. Bassett, 86, of North Billerica died Tuesday, Sept. 5, at Blaire House in Tewksbury.

Mr. Bassett was born in Lawrence. He lived in Andover until 1970 when he retired as superintendent of the water and sewer department for the town of Andover.

He also worked for Camp Dresser & McKee as a sanitary engineer in Dacca, East Pakistan, until the revolution that created Bangladesh.

After his return to the United States, he was director of the Billerica Board of Health for 12 years until he retired in 1983.

Members of his family include his daughters and sons-in-law, Sara A. and Charles P. Howe of Westport, Maine, formerly of Andover, C. June and Peter E. Lemieux of North Andover, and Carol A. and Gerald C. Znamierowski Jr. of Andover; 11 grandchildren; and six great-grandchildren.

He was the father of the late Clara L. Harnden Alhberg.

A celebration of life was held Friday at South Church.

Cremation took place at Linwood Crematory in Haverhill.

Arrangements were by Burke Funeral Home.

Memorial contributions may be made to Merrimack Valley Hospice, Nursing Home Division, care of Karen Shea, R.N., 1 Union St., Andover, 01810.

William B. Elmer

Longtime Andover resident

William Bull Elmer, 94, of the Rose Cottage, 2 Chestnut St., and also Thornton, N.H., died Tuesday, Sept. 5, at Retama Manor Nursing Center in Jourdan, Texas.

Mr. Elmer grew up in suburban Port Chester, N.Y. and graduated from the local high school. He received a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering from Massachusetts Institute of Technology and took graduate courses in physics and mathematics at the University of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Elmer was an inventor and innovator with more than 40 U.S. and foreign patents and applications. He worked for Boston Edison Co. from 1922 to 1942 in electric transmission, distribution and operation. He originated the basic metal head for lights in street-lighting. He then worked for four years as project engineer on underwater ordinance for Westinghouse Electric Corp. and designed a homing-type torpedo mine, the top-secret, so-called "Mark 12," used in World War II. Mr. Elmer later won a Department of Defense special award. He also originated and designed the first Oval Mercury Street Luminaire.

As a consultant and trouble-shooter with other companies, Mr. Elmer designed the reflector light for the walking-stick camera used by Neil Armstrong during the Apollo 11 mission to the moon. He also invented the "Sun Gun," a mobile, hand-held photographic light for use in Hollywood productions, which won an Academy Award in that year's technical category. He wrote and self-published a book on the optical design of reflectors, The Optical Design of Reflectors. The book was reprinted by John Wiley.

and Sons and is in its third printing.

Mr. Elmer was a registered tree farmer in New Hampshire, an accomplished charcoal portraitist, a pianist and composer of more than 30 classical piano works and a restorer and decorator of mechanical clocks.

He was a fellow of the Illuminating Engineering Society, Optical Society of America and Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers and a member of the MIT Club of Boston and a lifetime member of the Beacon Hill Civic Association.

Members of his family include his wife of 42 years, Cathleen (Burns) Elmer of Chestnut Street and Thornton, N.H.; sons, Edward B. Elmer of Pleasanton, Texas and William B. Elmer Jr. and Bayard W. Elmer, both of Bellevue, Wash.; brother, Henry R. Elmer of Richardson, Texas; nine grandchildren; four great-grandchildren; and several nieces and nephews.

A graveside service will precede burial at a later date at Pine Grove Cemetery in Thornton, N.H.

Consider These Thoughts

by Garry A. Burke

SLEEP'S REPOSE

There is nothing new in the fact that sleep resembles death or in the difficulty that some have in reconciling the pleasure of the one with the dread of the other. Perhaps nowhere is this dilemma so well set out as in the words of Miguel De Cervantes, who wrote: "Now blessings light on him that first invented this same sleep: it covers a man all over, thoughts and all, like a cloak; 'tis meat for the hungry, drink for the thirsty, heat for the cold and cold for the hot. 'Tis the current coin that purchases all the pleasures of the world cheap; and the balance that sets the king and the shepherd, the fool and the wise-man even. There is only one thing... that I dislike in sleep; 'tis that it resembles death; there's very little difference between a man in his first sleep, and a man in his last sleep."

The subject of death and funerals is not an easy subject to discuss. Arranging a funeral in advance of need can be a worthwhile experience in light of the impact your own death will have on those you love most. If you are interested in learning more about pre-need planning, call BURKE FUNERAL HOME at 475-5200. Located at 390 North Main Street, we handle the paperwork associated with insurance and Veteran's benefits.

Showing of antique Teddy bears this weekend

Internationally recognized antique Teddy bear collectors, authors, lecturers and artists Doris and Terry Michaud will be at Crispin's Bear, 23 Barnard St., for a three-day event this weekend.

From collecting antique Teddy bears, to designing award-winning Teddies, to writing books and articles for publications around the world, to conducting Teddy bear seminars and giving lectures on the subject, the Michauds are involved in every phase of the Teddy-bear world. A lecture about antique Teddy bears and collecting and a showing of their antique Teddy bears will be held tomorrow, Friday, at 7:30 p.m. They will be at the shop Saturday, Sept. 16, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. to discuss bears and bear-aphernalia and sign their bears and books.

The Michauds will lead a Teddy-bear-making class Sunday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. (The class is full at presstime.) As a special highlight of the weekend, the Michauds have created a one-of-a-kind pink mohair Teddy bear, to be given away to one lucky person who enters the drawing sometime during this weekend, organizers said.

Mary McGarry Morris: What makes her write?

reading any of Ms. Morris' works, one can't help but wonder, where do these characters come from?

Mary McGarry Morris grew up in Rutland, Vt. She says her characters emerge from the individuals she grew up with. "Like many writers, they come from the first voices I heard, the first stories I knew," she says.

Although her characters are located in specific economic, intellectual, and psychological positions, Ms. Morris believes that aspects of those characters can be found in everyone. "Despite these surface distinctions (financial status or educational background or family history), I see these types of characters everywhere." Including her hometown of Andover.

Since 1976, Ms. Morris, 52, has lived with her husband, Michael, a lawyer, in a beautiful old house on Abbot Street. The house was once an Abbot Academy dormitory. Although all five of her children have grown up and moved out of the house, their presence is a significant part of the warmth and peacefulness of the Morris home. Family pictures line the halls, windowsills and counter-tops. Her daughter's school pennant is pasted onto the refrigerator door and the artwork of her three grandsons hangs from a light above the kitchen table.

Ms. Morris is petite and soft-spoken. Greeting a visitor, her gentle eyes and inviting smile reflect the tranquility of her home. With her small terrier, Andrew, in her arms (even the Morris dog is well-behaved), one can imagine cookies baking in the oven, flowers blooming in the garden. Today the house is completely silent except for the faint, elevator-type music playing in the background. It is fascinating that within this home, so comforting and full of love, lives a novelist whose work is at once touching, frightening and unrelenting.

Ms. Morris grew up in Rutland as the oldest of four children. She began nurturing her creativity at a young age. Because her parents worked often, Ms. Morris says she had the time and space to use and expand her imagination. She believes that many writers, like herself, "probably had a lot of time to daydream as a child."

Ms. Morris says she never had a "moment of revelation" but knew from a young age that she was a writer. Although she started writing poetry and several short stories, she found she wanted to take her characters and stories further than those formats would allow.

For many years, her writing played second fiddle to the demands of motherhood and her career as a social worker at the Lawrence Welfare Department. Although she found it easier to write in what Virginia Woolf termed "a room of one's own," both literally and figuratively, Ms. Morris often found it necessary to write whenever and wherever she could (including at the kitchen table amidst the sound of her children's voices).

Her novels address the fears, failures and subtle triumphs of humanity. Her work has been compared to Charles Dickens, John Steinbeck, and, perhaps most accurately, Flannery O'Connor and Carson McCullers.

Mary McGarry Morris of Abbot Street, author of Songs In Ordinary Time, which was released July 31.

Her portraits are filled with raw honesty and rare insight. Her troubled characters are desperate, frustrated, and self-deceived. They struggle to survive, hope to be saved, and, as Ms. Morris says, "maintain their fictions in an effort to protect themselves." Ms. Morris exposes what her characters choose to keep hidden.

She says she creates her stories and the voices that fill them in an effort at both human and personal exploration. "I think I write for the same reasons most writers do. It's about finding out what you're trying to say, addressing certain questions you don't understand but that need to be answered."

Songs In Ordinary Time is about the resilience of the American family. It is also about the importance of community in keeping the family together. Although Ms. Morris does not view all her characters as heroes, she is interested in the possibility of heroic acts.

"I'm looking for that aspect of heroism in my characters," she says. "I'm particularly intrigued by those certain moments in time when one is given a decision to make, a decision usually involving courage, and how people respond to those moments."

Ms. Morris says finishing a book is both a rewarding and trying time. It is often difficult "to say goodbye to something that takes over so much of your life, your attention, your consciousness, really," she says. "It's not just yours anymore. Songs In Ordinary Time, with all its colorful and complex characters, and an ending that was very touching and emotional for me, was especially hard to say goodbye to."

Ms. Morris says there are costs of being a successful novelist. She acknowledges that "there's an element of performance" in touring that she'd rather do without. Although

The Fermoyle family: impoverished and completely damaged

Songs In Ordinary Time, which was released July 31, takes place in 1960 in Atkinson, Vt., a small town with deep tensions and dark shadows. It focuses on the Fermoyles, an impoverished and completely damaged family. Sam, the alcoholic father, is pitiful and irresponsible. Yet, as author Mary McGarry Morris explains, "Unlike most of the other characters, Sam knows who he is. He's willing to admit everything about himself, not hide, which of course eventually becomes part of the problem for him."

Marie, the strong-willed and overworked single mother, is fierce with the ones she loves most. She is a proud woman who fears tenderness and expresses her "hard-edged" love for her three children through action but never through words. Marie is a gripping woman, perhaps the most powerful character of the novel, whose violent temper, icy demeanor and passionate determination to survive hide a deeper yearning for love and protection.

Alice is the oldest child of Sam and Marie. She's a college-bound young woman who becomes involved with the local priest and is courted by a local thug, Blue Mooney.

Norm is the 16-year-old "man of the house" who is weighed down by responsibility, insecurity and teen-age anxiety.

And Benjy is the sensitive 12-year-old boy whose fear and passivity are as frustrating to the reader as they are to his family.

Finally, there is Omar Duvall, a smooth-talking con artist who seduces Marie by promising her an escape from her misery, loneliness, poverty.

By Kara Ryan

travel and promoting her books are necessary for her career, Ms. Morris often misses her home in Andover when she's away.

Ms. Morris says that, in the last year, she has had "any number of false starts" on a new piece of work, which, she says, "is part of the process." In the last several months, however, she thinks she has established a strong idea and set of characters from which to begin a new novel.

"I think this is the one, because I find myself always going back to it when I go for my walks. It takes over my thoughts when I'm doing the dishes, at the grocery store, wherever."

Once again, Ms. Morris enters the world of her imagination. She says she always knew she was a writer.

ones. If you blindfold any of them, they won't know which is the new one," said Jim Heiberg, architect.

The new additions to South include four new classrooms, a computer room, three specialized rooms, the teachers' workroom and a gymnasium and cafetorium. The old cafetorium has been divided into a music room, an art room and a choir room, ending the days of the roving arts teachers.

"I don't know what to say except last year I was on a cart and this year I have my own space," said Anne Richardson, arts teacher. "It's absolutely gorgeous and it's much better to have my own space. Not just for myself but for the other teachers, too. I was always very aware that I was cooking in somebody else's kitchen, so to speak."

Now, Ms. Richardson says she is free to do more involved projects without worrying about the constraints of using someone else's classroom.

Despite the improvements and the delayed opening of school, some parents who visited the school Monday, were concerned classrooms might not be fully prepared for students by Tuesday. Anthony Warren, South field representative, said the teachers had their rooms ready for the first day.

"I don't know how, but they were," said Mr. Warren. "A lot of teachers stayed until six o'clock. I left at 6:30 p.m. and there were still teachers straightening up."

"The most difficult thing for all of us is that we got into a box to do this construction in nine months. But that was what the town needed," said Jim Heiberg, architect. "The fact that we've maintained that schedule is something that was lost in (talking about) this little problem or that little problem. But we take great pride in it."

Andover High School

While the work inside South is expected to end in October, most of the work at Andover High has been done outside of the original facility. This summer, workers focused on completing road work and building the new gym and science wing.

Essentially, the only work inside the old facility was done in and around the cafeteria.

Nevertheless, at least one worried parent who attended freshmen orientation (and asked not to be named) said she was "absolutely wild" that she was not taken on a tour of the facility.

"The students did have a tour during the time that the counselors were talking with the parents," said Ruby Easton, guidance counselor.

As far as the first day of school, Ellen Parker, interim principal, lauded the patience of parents and students and the work of police as drivers become orientated to the new approach road and parking areas.

"It went smoothly. The students were very excited about some of the changes such as the new cafeteria," said Ms. Parker.

Jade Reitman, Sanborn principal, also was satisfied with the first day of school.

"It was as slightly as it could be," Ms. Reitman said of the facility. "The first day went great. There were no issues at all, we didn't lose a child, every child went home happy."

EDITORIALS

Blocking access to the High School

This editorial was written at midday Tuesday, and then re-written at the end of the day Tuesday, the day Andover's public schools opened for the year. As of Tuesday morning, the staff of this newspaper had not been allowed to tour Andover High School. Finally, after days of requesting a tour, the Townsmen was given one at the end of the day Tuesday.

Also by the end of the day, we'd had a call from an angry parent who said she had wanted a tour of Andover High during Monday's orientation. She was told there was an open house in January. "January is not September. I'm a taxpayer," the woman complained.

It's difficult to complain about lack of access when you're not sure who's responsible for blocking the newspaper's — and parents' — entrance.

We know that Jim Marsh, chairman of the School Building Committee, wanted to keep the press out of the inside of the High School, although he finally voted with the rest of the School Building Committee to allow access. We know that both newspapers that have ongoing coverage of Andover's public schools — the Townsmen and The Eagle-Tribune — asked several times to be allowed to tour and photograph the inside of the school. Several phone calls from this newspaper were not returned.

The Townsmen didn't have trouble getting permission to photograph South School.

But we came close to publishing this week without giving our readers, who are Andover's taxpayers, a look inside Andover High School because someone is trying to control what the public sees of the unfinished project there.

The Townsmen had to complain to the town manager to gain access to the High School. It seems someone is afraid the project will be criticized if people are allowed inside. That may be true, but criticism is to be expected with any large building project. Still, Andover residents are footing the bill for the renovation of the High School and they, therefore, are entitled to a good look at what's happened there.

The building committee as well as the project manager should allow reasonable access to parents, taxpayers and the press. Blocking access only makes us believe someone has something to hide.

Swastikas, PA, Community Spirit Award

By Perry Colmore

A woman who asked not to be identified called me Monday to say that the Indian Ridge neighborhood had been hit over the weekend with drawings of swastikas on mailboxes. Usually I am very down on people who want something done in the newspaper but won't allow their name to be used. But this woman had reason to keep her name out of the story. She is Jewish. She and her husband were afraid if they called the police about the swastikas, their name would be recorded and then they'd end up in the police log.

"We were afraid then we might be targeted," she said, meaning the bigots would hit her family even harder.

I asked her how it feels to be Jewish and to see first hand that anti-Semitism still exists.

"I thought, gee, it still exists," was her answer, "even in this town."

I've been in the newspaper business since 1976 and must have done the swastika story at least a dozen times, at least three times in Andover. I've never known the best way to handle it. I just know we have to handle it. By reporting on it we're saying we won't turn our backs on it, it's disgusting and someone should be held responsible for it.

We heard a lot of good stories about Phillips Academy this week. We all know the school has been dealing with the arrest Aug. 23 of one of its teachers, David Cobb, 59, who was charged with attempting to kidnap three children in two separate incidents in Farmington, N.H. We've heard Barbara Landis Chase, head of school, has dealt with the situation well, letting new and returning students and faculty know that if they have concerns there are people on campus with whom they can discuss the situation.

At the same time, we've been told that the adults seem to be more upset by the situation than the students. By Monday, when the campus was full and lively again, I, for one, felt better. I like it when Phillips Academy is in session. The faculty, staff and especially the students add great diversity and texture to this community.

The Townsmen is looking for nominations for its first Community Spirit Award, to be given at the first of the year to an organization or individual who has done something extraordinary for the town or for individuals in town.

We are asking groups or individuals to nominate people or organizations for the award. A panel of five community people (to be chosen) will make the award decision.

Making the award will be a good way for the community to recognize individuals and groups that reach out to different groups or people in town.

Examples of appropriate nominations would be a school grade that has "adopted" a needy person; a business that drives people to medical appointments; a group that raised the cash to buy a wheelchair for an individual; a church or temple group that in some way helps a needy family or group; or an individual who reads to a shut-in person.

Please write the nomination in one page or less. Include your name and phone number so we can gain further information if we need it.

We look forward to receiving your help in identifying Andover's community-spirited individuals and groups. All the nominees will be included in the newspaper's story about the award. Nominations are due Friday, Dec. 8, at 5 p.m. If you have questions call me at 508-475-1943. If you would like to fax your nomination, send it to 508-470-2819. If you'd like to e-mail it to me, it's Townsmen@aol.com.

LETTERS

Patrolman Cronin's wife protests the court's decision

Editor, Townsmen:

I have been planning a letter to the Townsmen for several months in order to thank the town for the wonderful support my husband received after his motorcycle accident last December. My husband is Andover's Highway Safety Officer Bob Cronin. He was involved in a collision while responding to a call to a traffic accident.

While traveling north on Route 28 by Washington Park (with blue lights and siren on) a car driven by an elderly woman, traveling south made a left turn in front of him. Bob suffered two broken wrists on impact and further injuries after traveling 38 feet in the air over the top on the car.

The calls and cards he received have been overwhelming. He got notes from people he met on the job as well as from people he has never met. He's had hand-made posters and beautiful cards from the school children of Andover. His first call in the hospital was from a student at St Augustine's who was worried about him. Both the Townsmen and The Tribune have kept in touch, keeping track of his progress. Although he expected to be back at work by mid-July, two surgeries on this right hand have delayed that until mid-fall.

There was one area where the support was noticeably lacking, the Essex County court system. The driver of the car contested the citation she was given for an improper left-hand turn. At the hearing she admitted seeing the motorcycle with blue lights flashing, but she thought she could make it. The state police reconstructionist concluded in his 10-page report "Unequivocally, this accident would not have occurred had Ms. Lane simply stayed on her side of the roadway until the emergency vehicle passed as required by law... This action strongly suggests that Ms. Lane was simply not looking where she was going and her attention was directed elsewhere or her cognitive abilities are so diminished that she has become a hazard to the motoring public." The judge found Ms. Lane "not responsible."

Do we, in Essex County, not have to yield to oncoming traffic, even if it is an emergency vehicle? Is where we have to go so much more important? No wonder Massachusetts drivers have the reputation they do, they are not held accountable. The traffic laws that Bob spends every day on the job enforcing, that he teaches at the schools in Andover, were not there to support him. What happened... is it because we have no respect for emergency vehicles?... no respect for motorcycles?... or do we give the benefit of the doubt to older drivers who perhaps should not be driving? (What would have happened if the other driver had been a 19-year-old boy?)

Someone said to me, "Oh, you can't take someone's license away, they will lose their independence." What sort of independence did Bob have while I or his nurse washed his face, combed his hair, brushed his teeth, dressed him, fed him and bathed him for three months?

Actually, we consider ourselves lucky. We have wonderful friends in Andover, he is alive and will probably work as a police officer again. However, Ms. Lane is even luckier, she literally walked away, but she was probably late for wherever she was going.

Stop the train whistles

Editor, Townsmen:

For the past few weeks I have been living in Andover at my daughter's home. I have not had one good night's sleep, due to the blasting of the local train. In fact, I now know why the 3-year-old wakes at 2:30 and 5:30 every night. The train blast is unusually loud and unusually long at those times.

I live near a train in Florida, and it is not allowed to make noise during the night.

My daughter lives in Illinois, near a train that is not allowed to make noise at night.

Citizens of Andover, you have a right to a night's sleep, without noise pollution. What's going on?

I wouldn't buy a home here.

Worried about schools' technology

Editor, Townsmen:

David Birnback's criticism of the Andover school system's slow progress in introducing new technology is well founded. ["David Birnback: Technology isn't a priority in schools," page 1, Sept. 7.] Over the past year I have attended many meetings of the Ad-hoc Committee on Technology and participated in several as an interested parent. While their deliberations appeared to be prudently cautious, they also were bureaucratically slow.

The slow pace of introducing the new technology is largely due to two things - lack of budget and lack of focus.

Regarding budget, it makes no sense at all to purchase several million dollars of new computer hardware and software without first preparing adequately for it.

To adequately prepare, several new technicians and administrators must be hired to oversee installation, hardware and software configuration, training of teachers, and continuing maintenance. This is in addition to the extra work needed to integrate the new computers into the curriculum, which really must be done by existing personnel.

The proposed math, science, and technology coordinator position alone is woefully inadequate.

Now, as I understand it, the bond monies cannot legally be used to pay for staff or other operational expenses. That money can only be used for capital purchases and consulting related to those purchases.

With the yearly operations budget as tight as it is, how is the School Committee going to hire the half dozen technical types that are needed? Until that question gets answered to everyone's satisfaction, it would be foolish to spend the bond funds.

Personally, I think the proportion of tax revenue split between the town and school system should be changed to increase the school budget. After all, the town has clearly chosen to put this technology into the schools. None of us wants to see it wasted, which is what will happen if the right people are not in place to manage it well.

Regarding lack of focus, while most of the committee's members were "believers" in the value of the technology, several appeared skeptical of its value. This is healthy since it keeps us all on our toes. However, in order to make progress at some point we have to stop tip-toeing around.

The Ad Hoc Committee has spent a lot of time discussing the hows and whys of providing this new technology in purely educational terms. However, the educators who attended the meetings when I was present did not, themselves, develop a coherent rationale for introducing the technology. This rationale must be present in detail in order to convince the skeptics and get everyone going in the right direction.

I believe it is the Ad-hoc Committee's mission to develop the detailed plan for the introduction and integration of the technology into the schools, including any educational basis for doing it. This should be brought to the School Committee post haste. The School Committee would then have the justification for acquiring the additional money needed to implement the plan. The townspeople would then have to decide if they wanted to approve that budget to avoid wasting the bond monies which have already been approved.

Andover Flyers: A resounding success

Editor, Townsmen:

Three cheers to Don Sheldon for organizing and running the fledgling Andover Flyers this past summer. For those of you who missed it, the track program was resounding success, though I am guessing that Don did not expect for it to be such a draw for the little kids (there were events for under 5-year olds). It was a pleasure to see so much satisfaction on the faces of all the kids. All the volunteers should be congratulated as well. It is folks like these who help to make Andover such a great place to raise a family. Thanks again, Don.

Schools' opening

Editor, Townsmen:

As fall begins, Andover students, teachers and parents are anxious about the 1995-1996 school year. As most know, a few of those schools are in the midst of construction. The construction has been difficult on the faculty, students and the neighbors close to the job sites. In these schools, the faculty and the students are in an environment that can make learning challenging. The town manager, the superintendent, the School Committee and the School Building Committee have spent numerous hours this summer devising a plan to get the schools as learning friendly as possible while at the same time keeping the construction schedule on time.

When the construction is finally completed, the schools will be truly a showpiece for this town to be proud. At the High School, our science and technology facilities will be second to none to any public high school in Massachusetts. The expansion of the athletic facilities will enable more students of all ages to participate in extracurricular activities. The media center improvements will allow the High School to carry more publications, research material and more space for individual study. The elementary expansion will allow our elementary students more opportunities in education without being overcrowded.

When a town takes a step forward to renovate and improve its infrastructure it may be frustrating for a short time, however, we must continue to work together as a community and remain positive. Andover's decision to invest in education will pay its dividends to the children for many years to come.

Group helps those with mental disorders

Helping Hands, a self-help support group for people who are suffering from mental disorders, meets Tuesdays in Andover, from 7 to 9 p.m. at 86 Poor St.

There is no professional counselor or psychiatrist to run this group. All members are given the opportunity to discuss their illness and to talk about how they cope with it.

The group is not chartered, nor is it associated with any mental-health facility. It is supported by contributions from its members.

Occasionally, guest professionals speak to the group.

Most members are on medication and see a psychiatrist on a regular basis.

For further information call Rita Martone, facilitator, at 475-3388.

Understanding Chiropractic

by Mark F. DeLorenzo, D.C.

LONG-LASTING RESULTS

An oft-cited English study has compared the effectiveness of chiropractic and medical clinics in treating back pain. The study included over 700 English patients in 11 different cities and towns between March, 1986 and March, 1989. The results of the study showed that patients treated by chiropractors were significantly better than patients treated in medical clinics six months after treatment had begun. Perhaps more significantly, the patients treated by chiropractors remained significantly better during the two years of follow-up examination. These results underscore chiropractic's ability to deliver long-term benefit to patients with back pain. This rather formidable study may put to rest any notion that chiropractic treatment has a fairly transient effect on back pain.

At DeLorenzo Chiropractic Group, we welcome any questions our patients may have regarding their chiropractic care and happily answer them. Research throughout the world has proved chiropractic to be exceptionally safe and effective in allowing restoration of health. We're located at 15 Central Street, where we can help relieve pain, correct cause, and prevent further injury. Call us at 475-5042 and start feeling better and living healthier.

P.S. The English study shows that those patients with severe and recurrent back pain benefited the most from chiropractic treatment.

Saturday's Know Your Town Fair celebrates Andover's many groups

This Saturday, Sept. 16, the second "Know Your Town Fair," sponsored by the League of Women Voters Andover/North Andover, will take place outside Old Town Hall, 20 Main St., from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. This event, structured like a block party, is a chance for people to connect with each other. More than 60 civic, environmental, religious, cultural, educational, athletic and health-related organizations will have tables and booths displaying materials and answering questions about who they are and what they do.

Park and Barnard streets will be closed to traffic from Main Street and will remain open at the parking lot ends of both streets (See graphic, above).

If it rains, the fair will take place upstairs in Old Town Hall during the same hours, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The Know Your Town Quiz

How many banks do we have in Andover? What is our town manager's nickname? What store do you think Andover needs? What should the old bowling alley become? Who is Bill Fahey? Name one selectman. Why do Andover firefighters wear red suspenders?

If you think you know your town, answer as many of these (and 18 other questions) as you can. Pick up the sheet with the complete list of 25 questions at the League of Women Voters' table at the Know Your Town Fair this Saturday, in front of Old Town Hall. You could win a gift certificate from the Andover Center Association merchants or another prize.

In 1830 Alexis de Tocqueville visited America and said, "Americans of all ages, all stations in life, and all types of disposition are forever forming associations." He concluded it was this inclination and civic pride that impressed him most about what made democracy work. Today, volunteer organizations continue to play a vital role in community life.

According to organizers, no one in Andover should feel isolated, unneeded or unknown. There is enough going on for everyone to be involved - and make a difference. There is no charge to exhibit or to attend. Any organization wishing to be part of the Fair should call Carole Chanler at 470-1550.

Spend a buck...and send a message to someone

For $1, participants in Saturday's Know Your Town Fair can arrange with the Andover Townsman to send a message in next week's paper.

Send a message (happy birthday or anniversary, good luck in school, thanks for washing the dishes, please mow the lawn, etc.) by stopping by the Townsmen's table at the fair - table No. 30 (see the graphic on page 38) - and pay $1, write the message and that's it: A message for a buck!

(Note: Messages cannot be longer than 20 words, cannot be of a commercial nature, and must be in good taste.)

Then take a historic walk

Visit the Know Your Town Fair on Saturday, Sept. 16, then join the Andover Historical Society's walk through historic Andover village at 1 p.m. Meet at 97 Main St., the site of Andover's historical museum and research center. If it rains, the video "Main Street circa 1900" will be shown in the Meeting Room Gallery. There is a small charge for either the walking tour or video.

Beginning at the Amos Blanchard House and Barn Museum, one can step back to the earlier 19th century and visualize the new Andover village. Main Street, formerly the Essex Turnpike, was laid out in 1807-'08 to connect Boston and the New Hampshire cities. Houses, like this one, were constructed in the predominating Federal style by established residents. In this case, Amos Blanchard, descendant of a founding family and graduate of Phillips Academy, bought this lot from South Church to be near his paper mill and later Andover Bank.

The walk, about 90 minutes long, will finish by going through The Park on Bartlet Street, then down Punchard Avenue. The Andover Historical Society is open Monday through Saturday, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Methuen Memorial Music Hall

Each Wednesday evening from now through October 4 at 8:00 p.m., hear concert artists from the U.S. and around the world perform on the Great Pipe Organ. Experience the grandeur of a unique and breathtaking musical setting.

"Assisted Living Means Security To Mom And Me."

"For her, it's a wonderful new home and a supportive, caring staff. For me it's knowing that everything is fine when I can't be there. For both of us, the assisted living program at Heritage Assisted Living Communities was the perfect choice."

We can't give you mother more love than you, nobody can. But we can offer something almost as important — security and peace of mind that means better health and more independence.

Our professionally-trained and caring staff will be on-call

24-hours a day in case any resident may need personal assistance. To assure our residents' dignity, personal services are provided in the comfort and privacy of one's own apartment.

If you or someone you know could benefit from the security and services of assisted living, please write us or call 508-683-1300.

MORE AHS FALL SPORTS PREVIEW

Brian Marshall and Scott Savage, linebacker Pete Daniels and running backs Dana DiFiore and Eric Thompson.

Thompson was a big offensive contributor with team-high totals of eight touchdowns, 48 points and 862 yards rushing. The seven returning starters are led by the four 1995 team captains, senior two-way tackle Jason Dalton (6'2", 268 pounds), senior half-back-linebacker Dana McCann (6'3", 190), senior defensive end-fullback Mike Shaughnessy (6'0", 190), and senior guard-defensive tackle Brian Cronin (6'0", 220).

Completing the Magnificent 7 are junior quarterback-safety-placekicker Brian Tisbert (5'9", 160), senior center-defensive tackle Andy Lynch (6'0", 250) and senior cornerback-halfback Chris Richter (6'0", 185).

Tisbert enjoyed a solid sophomore campaign with four touchdown passes and 43 points on four TD runs, 17 PAT kicks and a two-point conversion rush.

McCann, who led the blocking for Thompson, also found time to score five touchdowns and rush for more than 400 yards.

Other returning lettermen for AHS include junior split end-cornerback Ryan Games (6'0", 160), junior two-way end Matt Muench (6'3", 208), junior two-way tackle Chris Dunn (6'1", 230), senior split end and placekick holder Derek DeAngelis (5'8", 145), senior split end-quarterback Eric DeMarco (5'9", 150), senior tackle Tim Gagnon (6'0", 257) and sophomore halfback Rudy Morando (5'9", 175), junior center-tackle Ted Crandall (6'2", 258), junior defensive end-quarterback Jeff Scott (6'0", 185) and senior defensive end Chris Diaz (6'0", 190).

Also, junior defensive tackle Tom DiLiegro (5'9", 175), senior linebacker John Blais (5'11", 185), junior linebacker Brian Flanagan (5'10", 175), junior linebacker Craig Hartwell (6'0", 185), junior linebacker Tom Hartwell (6'0", 170), junior two-way back Jack Glazebrook (5'9", 160), junior two-way back Josh Murphy (5'10", 165), senior two-way back Jeong An (5'9", 155), senior tight end Jim McKain (5'10", 160) and junior split end-cornerback Brian Jordan (5'8", 150).

Dunn, DeMarco and Glazebrook are currently sidelined with injury or health problems.

Dunn, who missed most of last year with mononucleosis, has been hobbling on crutches after stepping on a rock and suffering a sprained ankle.

DeMarco injured a knee during pre-season practices, and Glazebrook is out indefinitely with mononucleosis.

Newcomers that have impressed the AHS coaching staff include sophomore split end-quarterback Joe Maglio (6'0", 150), sophomore quarterback Brian Cutler (5'9", 160), sophomore fullback-linebacker Scott Ciruso (5'10", 200), junior halfback Keith D'Amelio (5'8", 150), junior halfback Taylor Gleason (5'8", 140), senior split end Brian King (5'9", 160), sophomore split end-linebacker Ben Gibson (5'9", 160), senior split end Mike Homewood (6'0", 145), sophomore fullback-defensive tackle Eric Earl (5'9", 165) and sophomore halfback Matt Auferio (5'9", 145).

Move over, 'Commish'

Homewood, if he does nothing memorable on the gridiron this fall, will still be fondly recalled for his performance at the team's annual "Rookie Show" last week.

"At the end of double sessions we have a traditional talent show involving the players and cheerleaders, where all the first-year players are 'asked' to perform," explained coach Collins. "Mike (Homewood), who helps run the school's cable TV station and decided to try out for football this year as a senior, had everyone in stitches.

"He did a job (with impersonations) on me and (defensive coordinator) Joe Iarrobino," explained Collins. "It was the best piece of comedy acting we've had on the final night of double sessions since Mike Chiklis was on the team."

Chiklis, who actually hosted three AHS Rookie Shows during his tenure, has gone on to Hollywood fame as TV's "Commish" and he also played John Belushi in the movie "Wired."

Next to Jay Leno he is probably Andover's most famous entertainer.

Team evaluation

Coach Collins feels the major strengths of this year's team are "our size up front and the fact we have a proven starting quarterback and placekicker (Tisbert) returning all in one package. It's always nice to have that.

"But this is definitely not the fastest team we've ever had. We lack speed and, although we have a fair amount of experience, we lack overall depth," said Collins.

"There isn't a weak team (except Dracut) in the Merrimack Valley Conference. Chelmsford and Lowell will be the top contenders again. The return of Bobby Aylward at Tewksbury makes them an instant threat, Haverhill is coming on fast, Methuen should be improved and you can never count Central Catholic out although they were hit pretty hard by graduation."

North Andover returns to the schedule, after a two-year hiatus, replacing Wilmington, which shifted to the Cape Ann League this fall.

Andover hosts the Scarlet Knights on Nov. 17 at Lovely Field (7 p.m.).

AHS scrimmaged Reading High last week and bangs heads with Winthrop this Saturday to wrap up pre-season preparations.

The same assistant coaches return with defensive coordinator Joe Iarrobino joined by Joe Celia (quarterbacks, receivers), Justin DeMarco (backs), Ken Maglio (offensive line) and volunteers Scott Petrie (defensive line), Steve Tisbert (defensive backs) and Peter Reilly (kickers, special teams).

Collins also tossed in a plug for longtime Golden Warrior football supporter Shawn Shumski.

"He's returned from Texas for awhile and has been like my personal assistant, chauffeur, attendance-taker and everything else imaginable," said coach Collins. "He's been invaluable and made everything a lot easier during the pre-season."

GOLF

Record Last Year: 14-0-1, MVC Small School champion; tied for 3rd in All-State Division 1 Team Championships.

SPORTSTALK

Greg Deshenes of Andover was on the first-place team in the second annual Edward L. Kerr Memorial Golf Tournament of Bunker Hill Community College of Boston held at the Maynard Country Club.

The proceeds of the tournament will benefit the scholarship fund named in memory of the late resident of Acton who, for 20 years, was a faculty member in the college's business administration department. Part of that time he served as chairman.

***

Gina Fiore of Andover and her mount, Ticket To Ride II, were members of the gold medal-winning CCIY three-day eventing team at M&M's Chocolate Candies North American Young Riders championship held Aug. 8-13 in Wadsworth, Ill.

Ms. Fiore's team beat four other teams, with a final score of 269.2 to win the gold medal.

The M&M's Chocolate Candies North American Young

Riders Championship mirrors the format of the Olympic Games. Competitors ages 16-21 ride for team and individual medals judged by international juries under FEI rules. This year's riders represented Canada, Mexico, Sweden and all regions of the United States.

***

Ashley Heller of 8 Robinswood Way took first place in the Cadet Female Compound Release Division of the 1995 Massachusetts

State Outdoor and Colonial States Archery championship held over Labor Day weekend.

***

Jamie Kaplan, 14, of Andover, is skating at the Great Skate II, a benefit for Lawrence General Hospital on Sunday, Oct. 1, at Merrimack College's Volpe Arena, in North Andover. Skaters from local clubs are joining 1994 Olympic gold medalist Oksana Baiul in the program. Jamie represents The Skating Club of Boston.

Running for a friend

Christine Robertsen, of Andover, is running in the Honolulu Marathon in Hawaii in December in order to raise money for the Leukemia Society of America. She is running in the name of Jarred, a 6-year-old from Methuen who was diagnosed with leukemia last year. The money Ms. Robertsen raises in pledges will go toward research in leukemia to enable Jarred to live a full and complete life. Ms. Robertsen, 58, has competed in the Boston Marathon several times and has qualified already for the 100th Boston race next April. She has run also in many other long-distance races, including the Marine Corps Marathon in Washington, D. C., and the Cape Cod Marathon. To make a contribution, send a check to the Leukemia Society of America, Massachusetts Chapter, c/o Christine Robertsen, 180 Rustcraft Road, Dedham, Mass. 02026. All donations must be received by Oct. 1 and are 100 percent tax deductible.

Thanks to Jim Hurley, AHS teams practice

By Rick Harrison

Many Andover High fall sports teams have been farmed out to different locations for pre-season practices because construction at the high school has limited field space, gym space and temporarily eliminated the athletic locker rooms.

The football and boys soccer teams have been at Doherty Middle School, the girls soccer team started out at West Elementary, and the girls volleyball squad has been forced to use Merrimack College's Volpe Complex.

Field hockey has managed to find a suitable patch of land at the high school, while the girls swimming, golf and cross country teams normally practice away from the problem area and have been relatively unaffected.

What could have been a chaotic situation has actually been handled pretty smoothly.

"The majority of the credit for that goes to (athletic director) Jim Hurley," said AHS head football coach Dick Collins.

"Jimmy's been working his butt off and gone out of his way to make sure all the teams are accommodated and there is as little inconvenience as possible.

"This pre-season very easily could have been a disaster, a real nightmare, but instead it hasn't been much of trouble for anyone."

So, hats off to Jim Hurley.

"He's always been very visible at our practices and meets," said head swim coach Marilyn Fitzgerald.

"Last week he showed up at one of our practices and just sat down quietly in the stands.

"It's generally pretty hot inside the pool room, but Jim said he just wanted to sit there for awhile and relax because it's the only place he can go right now where there are no problems or headaches," said coach Fitzgerald.

Zetlan race is Sunday

The Sheila Brodie Zetlan Memorial Road Race to benefit breast cancer research and education will be held at Temple Emanuel on Haggetts Pond Road Sunday, Sept. 17. Registration is at 11:30 a.m. with the race at 1 p.m. The 10-kilometers course is TAC sanctioned. Walkers are welcome.

Dr. John Burke of Lowell is chairperson.

The success of past races has enabled the foundation to raise more than $100,000 in four years and award funds to medical centers devoted to breast cancer research and care.

Grants have gone to the University of Chicago Medical Center in support of its work using peripheral blood stem cells for the treatment of breast cancer.

Local institutions such as Holy Family Hospital Cancer Center in Methuen have received funds to help purchase equipment and establish a counseling program for breast-cancer patients and their families.

The foundation plans to make a grant to the Breast Cancer Center in Lowell this year.

Sheila Brodie Zetlan died of breast cancer in April 1990. She was 43 years old and the mother of two children, Michael and Peter. Her husband, Dr. Howard Zetlan, still lives in Andover.

The entry fee for pre-registrants is $10. The first 200 runners/walkers to register will receive a long-sleeve screen-printed T-shirt.

The entry fee the day of the race is $15. There will be three age divisions, starting with under 19 and ending with over 60.

The top three finishers in each division will receive prizes. Joanne Columbo and her friends are providing complimentary post-race refreshments.

For more information, call Myrna Jaffe at 475-4132 or John Burke at 452-7154.

High so that balances off nicely.

"We have a group of kids who are talented and play a lot of golf locally, in New England and even nationally during the off-season.

"In addition to their outstanding playing ability, these kids are a terrific group of young people. We have one girl on the team (Beth McCumber) and she fits nicely into the picture.

"We expect to do well, but the league is extremely tough and there are at least three or four other high quality teams including Methuen, Lowell and Billerica (defending Large School Division champion)."

Stats & Facts: Dave Shaffer, who will again play No. 1 for the Golden Warriors, is a two-time MVC All-Conference selection who placed third in the MVC Individual Championships last fall and second in the All-State Individual Championships at Norton Country Club. Shaffer won the Junior Rogers Tournament Senior Division (16-18 years) championship last month, and placed high in several New England and National Junior Tournaments over the summer. Shaffer boasts a career individual head-to-head match record of 32-7-2 in three varsity seasons, including 11-3-1 as a freshman, 10-2-1 as a sophomore and 11-2-0 as a junior ... Jeff Shea finished second to teammate Shaffer in the Rogers Tournament Senior Division, while Christian Sempere made it an AHS sweep by winning the Intermediate Division (15-and-under) of the tourney ... Sempere also entered the Lowell Junior City Tournament and placed among the top five in the Junior Division (15-and-under) ... Ken Oppenheim has transferred back to Andover from private school, while Beth McCumber's family moved to Andover about one month ago from the St. Augustine's area of Florida ... The Golden Warriors' tie for third in the All-State Tournament last year was their best finish in Division 1, while an earlier team placed second in Division 2 ... Coach Lawson's teams have won numerous league titles over the years and, although the veteran coach does not keep records, it's safe to say his teams have won close to 200 matches in 28 seasons ... With the departure of Wilmington to the Cape Ann League, and Greater Lawrence Tech's withdrawal from the MVC in golf, the new set-up is a nine-team, one-division league.

Coach's League Choices: Andover, Methuen, Lowell, Billerica.

Season Opener: Tuesday, Sept. 12 vs. Dracut (Indian Ridge CC).

FIELD HOCKEY

Senior forward Kristy Marsh scored at 14:20 of the first half, but that was the only goal the Andover High varsity field hockey team could muster in a season-opening 3-1 non-league loss to host Concord-Carlisle this past Monday.

Senior midfielder and Captain Stacy Kangisser set up the goal by Marsh, which was offset by two from C-C's Julie Nuse and one by Heather Annacone.

Senior goaltender Jamie Greene made seven saves for the Lady Warriors, while strong defensive efforts were contributed by senior Captain Amy Twohig and senior Julie Jackson.

AHS coach Sandy Lunt described Dual County League power Concord-Carlisle as a very aggressive team.

"It took us awhile to figure out we could play with them," she said.

Andover was scheduled to launch its Merrimack Valley Conference season today against visiting Haverhill (3:30 p.m.).

Record Last Year: 6-7-4.

Candidates: 46.
Key Graduates: Jackie LeMaitre (Boston College), Kathleen Harris (Brown), Swaroopa Reddy, Rachel Loschiavo, Carolyn Hines, Christine Anderson.

1995 Captains: Stacy Kangisser, Tamara Carroll, Amy Twohig.

Returning Starters: Stacy Kangisser, sr., midfield; Tamara Carroll, sr., sweeper; Amy Twohig, sr., defender; Katie Brown, jr., midfield; Michelle Empey, jr., forward.

Other Letter Winners: Jamie Greene, sr., keeper; Melissa Beede, sr., forward; Laura Burkle, sr., forward.

Promising Newcomers: Meghan Gallant, sr., defender; Julie Jackson, sr., defender; Sarah Halani, sr., forward; Kristy Marsh, sr., forward; Kara Stamm, sr., forward; Lindsay Corcoran, jr., all-around; Kirsten Kline, jr., midfield; Sarah Kramer, jr., defender; Emmy Lugus, jr., forward; Jamie Scaia, jr., defender; Kendra McDade, soph., forward; Suzi Meeker, soph., forward; Caroline Torrisi, soph., center; Ilana Gordon, soph., keeper; Nikki Shoemaker, soph., keeper.

Stats & Facts: Coach Sandy Lunt, beginning her 9th year at the Lady Warriors' helm, feels her team will be strong defensively but has much work still to do on offense ... Coach Lunt graduated from MVC rival Chelmsford High where she was a field hockey standout ... Stacy Kangisser earned All-Conference honors last fall, as did graduated Rachel Loschiavo, Jackie LeMaitre and goalie Kathleen Harris were MVC All-Stars ... Katie Brown and Laura Burkle, both defenders last year, have been moved to midfield and forward respectively ... Stacy Kangisser scored two goals and passed out three assists in 1994 ... The Lady Warriors finished last year with only two losses in their final seven games (2-2-3 overall) ... New assistant coaches this season are Valerie Spicer (JVs) and Betsy Holden (freshmen).

Pre-Season Scrimmages: Salem N.H., Masconomet Regional, Arlington.

Coach's League Favorites: Chelmsford, Tyngsboro, Lawrence.

Non-League Opponents: Concord-Carlisle (2), North Andover (2).

Season Opener: Monday, Sept. 11, at Concord-Carlisle (3:30 p.m.).

MEN'S CROSS COUNTRY

Record Last Year: 6-4-0, 15th place Eastern Mass. Division 1 Team Championships.

Candidates: 40.
Key Graduates: Kevin Shepard (North Georgia Military), Mark Adams.

1995 Captains: Charlie Russo, Chris Mann.

Promising Newcom- ers: Several good freshman prospects could impact the team.

Stats & Facts: Charlie Russo won five individual league races last fall, and he was also the Golden Warriors' top finisher at the Eastern Mass. Division 1 Championships with 17th place in a field of more than 200 runners ... This is the 8th year as head coach for Leo Lafond, who is also the North Andover women's varsity basketball coach in the winter and an assistant track coach at Andover in the spring.

Head Coach: Leo Lafond (8th year).

Assistant Coach: Russ Wrigley.
Pre-Season Scrimmages: North Andover.

Coach's League Favorites: Tewksbury, Billerica, Lowell, Chelmsford, Central Catholic.

Pubbers & Muddslides seize softball glory

Glenn Allard, Mickey Quinn and Mark Doherty were three of the standouts as regular season champion Park Street Pub rallied from a one-game deficit to defeat second place MMI Painting 3-1 in their best-of-5 Andover Men's Modified Softball League championship playoff series which concluded last week at Recreation Park.

Park Street, which finished the complete season at 20-9, lost the opening game of the title series in a rout as MMI (17-10 overall) ended it early by invoking the 12-run mercy rule.

The Pubbers turned the tables in game two, winning in a runaway, and the champs then took control of the series with a dramatic come-from-behind victory in game three.

Park Street then captured the fourth game decisively, by the 12-run slaughter rule, to clinch the crown.

Glenn Allard was the slugging star as he blasted four home runs in the championship series.

Mickey Quinn took over the pitching duties in the second game and posted three straight wins, while Mark Doherty delivered the final RBI hit that ended the fourth game of the championship series.

MMI Painting received a first-round playoff bye and then swept Jake's out in the best-of-5 semifinal round, 3-0. MMI had a five-game win streak going before Park Street got hot in the finals.

The Pubbers almost didn't make the finals, coming from a 2-1 deficit in the best-of-5 semifinals to eliminate upset-minded Red Harris in the eighth-inning of the fifth game after a dramatic home run by Al Eggert of Red Harris had forced extras.

Red Harris squeaked by Dr. Darke 2-1 in an exciting best-of-3 quarterfinal, and had momentum entering the semifinals versus Park Street.

Rosters

The roster of the champion Park Street Pub team includes Dave Hajj, Steve Doherty, Chris Doherty, Mark Doherty, Len Foote, Tom Duffy, Glenn Allard, John Quinn, Mark Manks, Brian Johnson, Gary Gerard, Leo Gravell, Rob Carpentier, Pete Reming, Earl Abdo, Ray Lynch, Bill Blackwell, Keogh Luich, Kevin Rourke and Mickey Quinn.

Snookie Lynch, Pat Clark, John McNiff, Bob Shay, Steve Berube, John Heinze, Jay Murphy, Dave McHugh and Tom Ewing.

Players on the Andover Coed League champion Marshalls Muddslides, who clinched the playoff championship earlier, include Sean Mullin, Dave MacDonald, Guy Peloguin, Alison Como, Julie Lemuth, Liz Butler, Liz Whalley, Jim Benedetto, Marie Benedetto, Doug Nelson, Sharon Kramer, Rob Reynolds, Eric Anderson, Kevin Howell, Peter Saul, Bob Love, Ron Haley, Lisa Cincotta, Rob Willey, Karen Mercandetti, Steve Lemuth, Sue LeDuc, Steve Hanafin, John O'Connell and

Addison Travel

Addison Travel's President Tom Keefe considers this an excellent time to plan fall and winter vacations and take advantage of specials for Europe and the Caribbean. By booking early and good planning, travelers are able to save money. "Good vacations don't just happen, they are a result of good planning," according to Tom. Most major cruise lines are offering advance purchase specials for fall and winter travel. Many European airlines are also offering off season packages.

Addison Travel has taken a step forward in the computer age and upgraded the entire office to P.C.'s. The fully computerized office can guide the customer through the maze of the many complicated fares and "so-called" bargains to find the best possible rate. By calling an airline, the client gets only a single point of view. The staff at Addison Travel is capable of comparing fares among several airlines to obtain the very best price.

Addison Travel is a full service travel agency. Their success is attributable to their dedication to service and ability to accommodate the customer's individual travel needs. They respect the customer's current travel requirements and circumstances. Repeat customers and referrals attest to their satisfaction. Addison Travel will assist their clientele whether they need one flight or an around-the-world trip, whether personal or corporate, individual or tour.

Customers profit from Addison Travel's agents' many years of experience. They are sensitive to budget requirements and are dedicated to giving the best value for the money. Assisting Tom Keefe and his wife Carol Keefe, vice president, are long time employees who are experienced travel counselors.

Addison Travel is conveniently located at 24 Chestnut Street, Andover. Telephone: (508) 475-7872 Rosemary C. Bernal

Discussing police details

Dr. Larsen and other board members reprimanded Buzz Stapczynski, town manager, at their meeting this past Monday night for making premature statements about the town's possible use of civilians to direct traffic at road jobs. The state attorney general recently approved the use of civilians, but Mr. Stapczynski said last week he was not interested in changing the town's policy of using police for those details. Roughly 20 police officers attended Monday's selectmen's meeting, but only spoke briefly to selectmen on the issue.

"They were all concerned that we were going to do away with (road details) and they assured them we were not," Mr. Stapczynski said Tuesday.

"We should leave here all knowing that we're not going to use flagmen in place of policemen," Selectman Jim Barenboim said he told his fellow board members and the officers Monday night. "That's the end of the discussion as far as policemen versus flagmen. As far as I'm concerned, we've made the policy."

Selectman Barenboim is a former reserve police officer.

Most members of the board said this week they do not favor the use of civilians in place of police, but that there are other issues with the road jobs, such as when and where details are required, which are worth discussing.

Dr. Larsen said they are separate issues — one of pay and one of the possible use of civilians. The pay rate, currently a minimum of $35 an hour for the details, is a contract issue and should not be discussed outside of negotiations, according to at least three board members. But Selectman Bill Downs and Dr. Larsen agree that the town's policy regarding who does the details and where they are used could and should be discussed.

Dr. Larsen said the town should address the issue and form a policy that "is more broad based" and "proactive," or he fears it may be decided at a town meeting without any real opportunity for input.

"I happen to feel that police should be used for most... road details in Andover," Dr. Larsen said.

A lot of people resent the officers having the opportunity for the extra income, "but I don't resent that," he said.

But he agreed that some people may feel civilians should also have the opportunity for that extra income.

Dr. Larsen said selectmen should start the discussion and that he hoped any discussion of the issue could include police officers and residents. Mr. Downs said he thought it might be an issue for an upcoming executive session. But Mr. Downs wants the town manager to first do some research on costs and savings, what other communities are doing, and other specifics so board members would have some factual information to work with.

Mr. Downs said he expects this issue may come up at the board's next executive session, which could be at its next meeting on Thursday, Sept. 21.

Would it save the town money?

Contrary to statements that have been attributed to him, Dr. Larsen said, he does not see the use of civilians providing any great monetary savings for the town.

Mr. Barenboim said the issue is one of safety, and that a civilian hired by a contractor may not have the public's best interest in mind.

"I want someone who is going to work a road detail who has the safety of motorists and pedestrians as his main concern," Mr. Barenboim said.

If that means paying a little more, that's fine with him, Mr. Barenboim said.

Selectman Barry Finegold on Wednesday agreed with Mr. Barenboim on the safety issue. Mr. Finegold also said he would like to see a review of the policy regarding when details are required. The times or locations where details are required may be able to be reduced, and that could save money, he said.

At Baystate Electronics all work is done on the premises by experienced technicians using only manufacturer's original parts. Their repair work is backed by a 90-day guarantee. As part of their commitment to the consumer, they will spend time with each client, educating them on the proper care and maintenance of items brought in for servicing. This may help to prevent future repair bills. Free estimates are available.

Baystate Electronics is a consumer-oriented small business dedicated to providing expert repair services at reasonable prices. Owner Dave Knight and Controller Erin Knight lead a team of trained professionals in their shop in Tewksbury. They can expertly repair all types of consumer electronics: TVs, VCRs, camcorders, stereos, computer monitors, CD players, cassette recorders, cameras, slide and overhead projectors, microwaves, and Nintendo.

Baystate Electronics recently increased their inventory of refurbished VCRs, TVs, CD players, and receivers for sale. This will enable the most discriminating buyer to obtain higher quality equipment for their home. A large number of refurbished TVs are presently available in the shop.

Baystate Electronics offers pickup service in surrounding towns for a nominal fee. Free pickup and delivery of TVs is offered to Tewksbury area senior citizens and the handicapped.

Baystate Electronics is a member of the National Federation of Independent Businesses, the National Electronics Sales and Service Dealers Association, and the Better Business Bureau.

"WE COULD LIVE ANYWHERE IN AMERICA!"

"WE CHOSE THE VILLAGE GREEN AT BEDFORD."

Roger is a Captain for a major airline:

"We moved here because we wanted to make life more comfortable. Everything is taken care of... my time is my time...and you can't possibly beat this location. It's only 10 minutes to the airport, a short drive to the mountains or the ocean, it's perfect."

Bonnie is a RN/BSN at an area medical facility: "The floor plan is excellent...and the area is beautiful...my neighbors are very friendly...there's a real sense of community here...I wouldn't want to be anywhere else."

MEET LOUISE BERNARDIN PONTI

Family roots are important to Louise Bernardin Ponti. Born, raised and educated in Greater Lawrence, she graduated from Merrimack College and went on to pursue a career as an educator. While raising four children in Andover with her husband Joe, she earned her broker's license. Since 1977, Louise has been a valued member of the real estate community.

In addition to her many contributions to the Greater Lawrence Board of Realtors, numerous industry awards are testimony to Louise's integrity and hard work. She has developed a broad network of referral business based on her roots in the Merrimack Valley and her involvement in A.V.I.S., Andover Historical Society, Herb Society and Andover Garden Club. Louise's keen listening skills and high professional standards have successfully served countless buyers and sellers.

Call Louise Bernardin Ponti - another good reason why a move with Hunneman is the smart move.
